PARKWAY BILL IS EXPECTED TO PASS THE HOUSE TONIGHT

City Officials and Members of the City Plan Commission Confident of Success.

THREE LEADERS FOR IT

Explanations of Proposed Improvements to Which Objections Have Been Made.

City officials and members of the City Plan Commission expressed the opinion today that the House of Delegates would pass the central parkway bill tonight. Chairman Scully of the Public Improvements Committee of the House invited the members of the City Plan Commission to meet the committee this afternoon, and explain some objections made against the bill.

Members of the City Plan Commission were confident they could meet every objection with an explanation that would satisfy the members of the committee. Delegates John T. McCarthy, James J. Gallagher and Speaker Andrew Gassolo, leaders of the Democratic majority, are known to favor the parkway bill. Chairman Scully of the Public Improvement Committee is also in favor of the bill, and says he is ready to report it favorably tonight.

Opposition Is Attempted. Several Democratic members, who were active in the old combine against the free bridge, have been trying to organize an opposition to the parkway. Otto P. Stifel, who has been a factor in Republican politics for many years, has objected to the bill because it provides for cutting a 70-foot strip of ground off of the west side of the Federal League baseball park.

The Federal League was granted permission to erect a temporary grandstand in the park at Grand and Laclede avenues, but as this is not a fireproof stand, the city has the power to order it removed.

Favorable Report Expected. A member of the Public Improvements Committee of the House said this morning that undoubtedly a favorable report would be made on the parkway bill tonight. He said that he did not think any members of the House of Delegates other than Whalen of the Twenty-sixth ward, Byrne of the Eighteenth, Meisner of the Sixth, King of the Tenth, Butler of the Eighteenth and possibly fall of the Twenty-first would vote against the bill.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said today that the board would not consider sending the parkway bill to meet some minor objections raised by members of the House. Every objection had been fully considered by the commission before the bill was drawn, he said. It was up to the House of Delegates to accept the bill as prepared, or reject it, he declared.

Walter B. Stevens, secretary of the City Plan Commission, explained the commission's reasons for adopting the parkway plan as submitted to the Municipal Assembly. Some members of the House of Delegates said they favored extending the parkway westward from Beaumont street by taking in the block between Laclede and Lawton avenues instead of between Lawton avenue and Pine street. There was also objection made to taking a 70-foot strip of ground on the east side of Grand avenue, between Market street and the parkway.

Object of Wider Grand Avenue. Stevens said that the object of widening Grand avenue was to give direct connection with Forest Park boulevard and make it one of the principal thoroughfares connected with Forest Park. By widening Grand avenue, he said, some of the traffic would be diverted from Lindell and West Pine boulevards and the congestion in the vicinity of Grand avenue and Olive street would be relieved.

The strip of land on the east side of Grand avenue was not to be expensive property, he said, and the widening of the street would greatly benefit the entire district within several blocks of Grand avenue.

Four Owners' Protest. There will be no more of a job in the parkway, at Beaumont street, by taking the block between Lawton avenue and Pine street, than there would be if the block between Laclede and Lawton avenues were condemned, according to Stevens' plan. Owing to the manner in which the streets were laid out there would be a divergence of one-half a block north or south, in either case.

The commissioners believed, Stevens said, that the condemnation of the block between Lawton avenue and Pine street would be very much more beneficial to the property in the district, than the acquisition of the block between Laclede and Lawton avenues. The south block would pull the parkway too near to the railroad district, and too far away from the Olive street district, to give the maximum of benefits, he thought.

Stevens called attention to the fact that out of the 96 property owners in the strip of ground four blocks wide between Market and Olive streets, only three had appeared before the House of Delegates committee to protect against the passage of the bill.

Report Made Two Years Ago. The report was made by Isaac H. Lionberger, then Judge James A. Seddon and a named McAllister, who own property in the vicinity of Union Station. Lionberger has a block of property at Seventeenth and Chestnut streets on Page 2, Column 2.

POLICE QUESTION WOMAN FRIEND OF MYSTERIOUS 'J. C. R.'

Mrs. Harriet E. Pitkin Identified as Mrs. L. C. LaBar by Post-Dispatch Man.

HUSBAND SENT TO PRISON

Man, Alleged Heir to North Dakota $10,000 Property, Also Taken to Station.

Mrs. Harriet E. Pitkin, who came to St. Louis Monday with a man who she said was the famous man of mystery, "J. C. R.," in an effort to have him identified as the owner of a large estate in North Dakota, was taken with the man this afternoon by detectives from 4222 Page boulevard to Chief Allender's office to be questioned in regard to her visit here. Mrs. Pitkin has had unfortunate and embarrassing experiences with the police in the past, but always was exonerated.

The action of the police was coincident with the identification of the woman by a Post-Dispatch reporter, as Mrs. Harriet E. LaBar, who was tried and acquitted in Judge Withrow's court in January, 1905, on a charge of aiding L. C. LaBar, said to have been her husband, in swindling a publishing house out of $2000 worth of books. LaBar was sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary.

Accused in Washington. Immediately after Mrs. LaBar's, or Mrs. Pitkin's, acquittal she was re-arrested, according to police department records, and taken to Washington, D. C., for trial on a charge of passing a worthless check for $50. She was promptly acquitted there.

Mrs. Pitkin objected to accompanying the detectives to Allender's office, demanding they produce a warrant for her. Upon their advice that it would be advisable to accompany them without objection, she agreed. The man introduced as Caldwell was taken along. The man introduced as Caldwell, Mrs. Pitkin has stated, is the mysterious "J. C. R.," who was found unconscious on a railroad platform near Rochester, Minn., in June, 1907. "J. C. R." was taken to a sanitarium in Rochester, and after a year escaped.

She Is the Kidnapped Man. Mrs. Pitkin says that she kidnapped him from the sanitarium, and that the man she has with her is this same man. A year ago Mrs. Pitkin identified the same man as her son, Earl W. Isles, who has been missing for several years. She now says that she knew he was not her son, and that she identified him in that manner for the sole purpose of keeping him with her.

Jay A. Caldwell, she avers, is the owner of a large tract of land in North Dakota, valued at more than $100,000. Mrs. Pitkin said that in her search for her son she found Caldwell and immediately recognized him as the son of an old neighbor.

Had Several Names. She says she has taken an interest in him for the purpose of enabling him to get possession of property which rightfully belongs to him. She told also that he was the fiancé of her daughter before he disappeared.

Chief Allender sent for the couple to question her about the alleged mystery in the affair.

According to St. Louis records the woman has been known under the names Isles, LaBar, DeVaney and Pitkin.

BOY, 4, BURNED, MOTHER HURT RESCUING HIM

Child's Clothing Catches Fire While He Is Playing in Front of Grate.

Ralph Wright, 4 years old, was rescued by his mother shortly after noon today when his clothing caught fire as he was playing before an open grate at the home of Dr. Charles Wright, 3017 Dickson street.

The child was seriously burned, Mrs. Wright sustained severe burns about the hands and arms. Dr. Wright gave emergency treatment to his wife and son and sent the child to the city hospital.

—the power of publicity

The big daily newspaper, is the most profitable salesman. A forceful advertisement, in the right newspaper, with a big and far reaching circulation, will command and hold the attention of a bigger audience in less time, than is possible via any other method.

Our St. Louis merchants who appreciate the "power of the press" and with knowledge born of experience, distributed their advertising on Thursday as follows:

99 columns in the POST-DISPATCH alone
78 columns in its three nearest competitors, the Globe, Democrat, Republic and Times combined.

John Wanamaker, the great retail merchant says, "Advertising doesn't jerk, it pulls." It begins gently, but the pull is steady. In other words, it pays to keep everlastingly at it.

Corner of a Field Near Arras After a Battle

This photograph shows a section of the battlefield at Arras immediately after the encounter of Oct. 4. Everywhere are strewn the dead of both armies who expired where they fell. In the foreground are the French and in the background are the Germans. In a little while peasants will come and gather up these bodies and lay them in a common grave for their long sleep.

ST. LOUIS LAWYER IS SHOT, WOUNDED, ON HUNTING TRIP

John H. Douglass Accidentally Hit by Discharge From Marshall Hodgman's Gun.

John H. Douglass of 15 Vandeventer place, a lawyer, is at St. Luke's Hospital under treatment for wounds he received when he was accidentally shot while on a hunting trip at the Deer Plain Club, near Grafton, yesterday.

He and Marshall Hodgman of 5273 Waterman avenue were shooting ducks. About 100 bird shot lodged in Douglass' right leg.

Hodgman today said the gun was lying at his feet when it was suddenly discharged. He was about to move to another position, he said, and following his usual custom he reached down to throw the safety attachment on his gun before picking it up.

At that time Douglass was moving through the weeds to Hodgman's left, but Hodgman did not know this. Hodgman was wearing gloves and this interfered with his effort to throw the safety attachment on his gun.

He believes that while he was feeling for the safety attachment a movement of the grass, caused by his hand, threw the trigger. Hodgman took Douglass on a launch to Grafton and, after obtaining emergency treatment for him there, brought him to St. Louis. At the hospital this morning it was said his injuries were not considered serious.

HANDCUFFED MAN HIS OWN ATTORNEY IN FEDERAL COURT

Refuses to Let Lawyer Represent Him, and Gets 5-Year Sentence for Theft.

The unusual sight of a defendant acting as his own attorney while handcuffed, was viewed in the Federal Court in East St. Louis today. Thomas McCambridge, 45 years old, charged with stealing underwear from an interstate shipment, on Oct. 17, while presenting the above spectacle, also created much interest in the manner in which he conducted his own trial.

When the first panel of jurors were brought in, McCambridge, then unhandcuffed, sketched out to the court: "I won't have him. I won't have him," pointing at his attorney, Alexander Flannigan. "What seems the matter there?" Judge Francis Wright inquired. "He's betrayed a trust. I won't have him," McCambridge exclaimed.

Flannigan then arose and explained to the court that McCambridge's brother had retained him, paying him a retainer fee of $50. He said that he had betrayed his client in no manner. However, as his client insisted, Flannigan withdrew from the case. McCambridge announced that he would act as his own attorney.

Judge Wright told him to examine the panel. McCambridge took one look at the men in the jury box, and turning to the court, said: "O, I guess that body of men will do." District Attorney Charles Karch then examined them, one by one, and announced that the Government accepted them. Then the trial commenced.

McCambridge arose to make a statement to the jury, but switched off, and began denouncing his former counsel: Time and again he was told he was out of order. Finally Wright said: "Now you sit down."

McCambridge obeyed, first slamming a pencil and book down upon a table with terrific might. "I'm not getting a square deal around here—first my lawyers were based on me—now the Court's against me," he said. "Handcuff that man," the Judge ordered.

The manacles were placed on his wrist and the trial proceeded. Witnesses testified that the defendant had been seen picking up underwear from the side of a box car on Oct. 17. Then McCambridge arose to make his final plea, the handcuffs rattling as he shook his hands together, repeating time and again:

"Everybody's against me." The jury was out two minutes, returning a verdict of guilty. "Five years," said the Court.

CIGARETTE LAW VIOLATED

The police have been ordered to enforce to the letter the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors. Chief Young told the Captains of the various districts he had received several complaints alleging violations of the law.

COLD WAVE IS ON ITS WAY TO PALM BEACH, FLA.

Freezing Temperatures Predicted for South in Storm Sweeping Across Country.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The cold wave, with some snow, which has swept rapidly down from the North-west and spread over the South Atlantic States from Virginia to Florida, today has forced temperatures to the lowest recorded in November in 40 years.

Weather Bureau officials predicted killing frosts and freezing temperatures would extend as far south as the coast at Palm Beach. The cold also extends northwest from Florida, throughout the Ohio Valley and over the plains states. The wave has moved southeasterly and will end in a few days.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia and Central Florida.

Shipping Suffers in Storm Along New England Coast.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The first southern storm of the season to reach the New England coast, lashed itself to pieces off shore during the night and by sunrise had apparently blown itself out. Shipping suffered considerably and much damage along shore was caused by high tides. The storm was not so severe inland. At Provincetown, Mass., four fishing schooners were driven ashore, but only one was damaged.

German Submarines Sighted

Recently Off Isle of Wight

OTTAWA, Ontario, Nov. 20.—Minister of Militia Hughes has revealed that the recent discovery of four German submarines off the Isle of Wight was due to the efforts of Premier Sir Robert Borden. The Premier feared for the safety of the Canadian force of 33,000 men sent to England and cabled the imperial authorities urging that all care possible be used in the landing of the men.

Extra precautions were taken and these led to the discovery of the German submarines off Wight and eventually caused the Canadian contingent to be debarked at Plymouth instead of at Southampton.

British $1,750,000,000 War Loan Heavily Oversubscribed

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Daily Chronicle asserts that the new war loan already has been oversubscribed and that the applications still are pouring in.

According to the Chronicle, the amount spoken for aggregates $690,000,000 ($3,000,000,000).

The total loan amounts to $1,750,000,000.

Quartermaster-General of German Army Dies Suddenly

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A Reuter dispatch from Berlin gives the official announcement that Major-General von Voigts Rhetz, Quartermaster-General of the German army, had died suddenly from heart disease.

Von Voigts-Rhetz succeeded Gen. von Stein as Quartermaster-General only a short time ago. His appointment caused the erroneous statement to be circulated in Holland that he had been chosen as the eventual successor of Gen. von Moltke as chief of the general staff.

British Officer Yearns to Wring Chicago Packers' Necks

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A British army officer at the front, whose letter appears in the Morning Post, writes: "We live on various forms of dog biscuits and bully beef of different brands. They vary enormously in quality and on my return I should like to get hold of some of those Chicago meat kings and wring their necks and put them through their own mincing machines."

Interned German Officers Break Word, Flee Holland

THE HAGUE, via London, Nov. 20.—Two German officers interned in Holland, who had given their word of honor that they would not attempt to escape, have broken their parole and crossed the German frontier, according to an announcement made here.

Britain Stops Exportation of Tea Except to Allies

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Great Britain today prohibited the exportation of tea to all continental ports except those of the countries of the allies and of Spain and Portugal.

This prohibition is due to indications that Germany is receiving large supplies of tea through the Netherlands.

GERMANS MOVING ON RUSSIANS ALONG THREE CONCENTRIC LINES

Germans Attack From West and Northwest in Poland, While Austrians From Cracow Menace Muscovites, Who Are Thrown Off Natural Line of Retreat.

COLD STOPS FIGHTING IN INUNDATED FLANDERS

Germans Send Engineers in Force to Flooded Country to Devise a New Method of Crossing the Waters—Fortifications Constructed Throughout West Flanders for Possible German Retreat Now Are Completed.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via The Hague and London, Nov. 20.—The great battle in West Poland is in full progress. Official reports state that no decision has yet been reached.

The engagements previously reported eastward of the Mazurian Lakes at Soldau, Lippo, Wloclawek and Cracow seem to have been merely preliminaries to a general engagement along the whole line. The German bulletin mentions fighting northward of Lodz, while the Austrians report the advance of their army northward from Cracow, and it is evident that the Teutonic allies and the Russians are engaged in the center along a north and south line. Hence it seems that the Teutonic allies are leveling a concentrated attack from three directions against the Russian force.

The newspaper critics interpret conditions as generally favorable to the Austro-Germans, and assert that the German advance beyond Mlawa, and the vicinity of "lock," has eliminated danger of an invasion of East and West Prussia, except by such cavalry forces as are operating northward of Eydtkuhnen, in East Prussia, on the Russian border. These, however, are only raiders.

Russian Fight Is Deflected. Maj. Morant, the military critic of the Tageblatt, declares that Gen. von Hindenburg's advance south of the Vistula has exerted effective pressure on the whole Russian right wing, and deflected it southward from its natural line of retreat on Warsaw. The chief fighting is now proceeding to the southeast and east of Kutno, between Lodz and Warsaw, on the Bzura River. The situation, Maj. Morant says, gives the Germans ground for hope of complete success, particularly since strong Russian forces operating north of the Vistula against the line from Thorn to Mlawa have been driven back against the line of the River Bug.

Maj. Morant gives full credit to the co-operation of the Austrian armies which, by their offensive from Cracow, have drawn upon themselves strong Russian forces and have prevented their detachment against the Germans in the North. The Austrians, he says, in a self-sacrificing policy, have throughout played the game conscientiously and subordinated their own particular interests to those of the general campaign. Emperor William has telegraphed Gen. von Hindenburg the imperial thanks for the victory of great promise in the first operations of the battles in West Poland and has sent greetings and his gratitude to the troops of the East army for their unparalleled deeds of marching and fighting.

"My best wishes accompany you for the coming days," he said.

Russians Retreat Through Lippo and Newami Continues.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 20.—The German troops have repulsed French attack in the neighborhood of Verdun, in France, and the Russian retreat in Northwestern Poland continues, according to an official communication issued today by the general army headquarters. The text of the official statement reads:

"In West Flanders and in North France no appreciable change in the situation has taken place.

"Heavy rains and snows, which first soaked and then partly froze the ground, have made our movements very difficult. A French attack at Combre to the southeast of Verdun was repulsed.

"The situation on the East Prussian frontier remains unchanged. East of the plain of the Masurian lakes the Russians captured an unoccupied fort in which were some obsolete cannon. The retreat of the enemy through Lippo and Newami continues. Our attack has made progress to the south of Plock.

"No decision yet has been reached to the fighting around Lodz and to the east of Czenstochowa."

Germans Partly Close Lippo Harbor by Sinking Ships.

BERLIN, via The Hague and London, Nov. 20.—A war bulletin issued yesterday says:

"The German fleet has succeeded in partly closing the harbor of Lippo, Russia, through the sinking of ships, and also has bombarded important military positions."

Austrians Capture 7000 Prisoners in Battle in Poland.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A Reuter dispatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam gives the following official statement: "The battle in Russian Poland progresses favorably. According to the day's information, our troops have captured 7000 prisoners, 18 machine guns and several field guns."

Germans Prepared to Cross Flooded Land; Fighting Stopped by Cold.

BRUGES, Belgium, Thursday, Nov. 19, via St. Louis and London, Nov. 20.—Large bodies of German engineers have been passing toward the front, according to information received here, and it is believed the Germans are planning to cross the inundated country by scientific engineering methods.

Meanwhile, the western storm continues, and the waters of the North Sea are sweeping inland through six big locks at Nieuport.

It is learned here that the Germans Wednesday attempted a raid on these locks which are built in a semi-circle. Their attack, which was conducted in a number of armed automobiles, was repulsed.

The fortifications which have been constructed all through West Flanders for use in case of an eventual German retreat, evidently now give completed, for the troops employed in their construction all have gone to the front. The snow in Flanders continues. There is much sickness among the men in the trenches and the sudden and violent coming of winter has been a source of worry to the troops.

The Yser region now has a temperature of that of the New England coast on a bleak, windy December day.

In this weather the armies are compelled to live in the devastated territory, where there are no houses to give shelter or warmth. Physical numbness not military exhaustion, has caused the temporary lull in the battle.

Many cannon and automobiles have been lost in new inundations.

Germans' Infantry Attacks and Artillery Activity Almost Cease.
PARIS, Nov. 20.—The official communication, given out today, follows:

"The day of Nov. 19 was marked by the almost total absence of infantry attacks on the part of the enemy; at the same time their artillery fire was much less violent than on the afternoon of Nov. 18."

"To the north the weather has been very bad and snow has fallen. All the region of the Yser canal, to the east of Dixmude, is invaded by the waters."

"In front of Ramscappelle we have withdrawn from the water two 185 centimeter (6.43 inches) mortars."

Goeben Set Afire in Battle With Russian Fleet, Breslau Unharmed

PETROGRAD, Nov. 21.—The following official statement was given out yesterday by the Russian Ministry of Marine regarding the naval battle in the Black Sea between the Russian and Turkish fleets:

"On the 18th (Wednesday) a division of the Black Sea fleet, returning from its cruise to Sebastopol, near the coast of Anatolia, sighted, 25 miles from the Bosphorus Light, a Turkish detachment consisting of the Goeben and the Breslau. The Russian fleet immediately drew up in battle order, bringing the enemy to starboard, and opened fire at a distance of 40 cable lengths (about five miles)."

"The first salvo of 12-inch guns from the flagship Admiral Evstafyev struck the Goeben and caused an explosion amidships, setting her on fire. Following the Evstafyev, the other Russian ships opened fire, the Russian guns giving an excellent account of themselves."

"A series of explosions were seen in the hull of the Goeben, which opened fire slowly. The enemy seemed not to have expected to meet us. The German fired salvos of their heavy guns, directing them exclusively at the flagship. The encounter lasted for 14 minutes, after which the Goeben withdrew and disappeared in the fog, taking advantage of her speed."

"The Breslau took no part in the fight, hiding herself on the horizon. The Evstafyev suffered only insignificant damage. The Russian losses were a Lieutenant, three ensigns and 29 sailors killed, a Lieutenant and 19 sailors seriously wounded and five sailors slightly wounded."

Russian Warships Damaged in Engagement, Berlin Declares.
BERLIN, Nov. 20 (by wireless to the Associated Press).—A Turkish fleet has engaged a Russian squadron composed of two battleships and five cruisers off Sebastopol, according to an official report reaching Berlin from Constantinople.

"One of the Russian battleships was seriously damaged and the other vessels damaged."

ROME, Nov. 20.—More than 110 members of Parliament, comprising the Radicals, Constitutional Democrats and Socialists, have formed a federation to combat the neutrality attitude, and strive for Italy's participation in the war on the side of England and France.

Rumania Calls 1916 and 1917 Recruits into the Army.
LONDON, Nov. 20.—A Bucharest dispatch to the Standard says:

"Orders have been given for the immediate incorporation with the colors not only of next year's recruits, but those for 1916 and 1917 who are medically reported fit for service."

"The Danube Navigation Co. has withdrawn all its boats from active service, and the only means of communication now between Rumania and Austria is by rail, and even then only passenger service is tolerated. No goods or parcels may be sent through."

"Public opinion is daily becoming more outspoken in the cause of the allies. There have been serious street riots owing to the determination of the Austrians not to permit further publication of three newspapers said to be under German control. The offices of one of them have been burned down."

abandoned by the Germans. There had been a very intense artillery fire to the south of Ypres.

"On the center there have been no important actions to report. In the Argonne three vigorous attacks on the part of the enemy's infantry have been repulsed."

"On our right wing the Germans have recaptured the destroyed section of Chauvencourt. Further to the east we have made some progress."

"The official communication of last night said the day had been particularly calm and there was nothing to report."

Austrian Ship, Engaged in Contraband Traffic, Blown up by Mine.
VENICE, via Paris, Nov. 20.—The loss of the Austrian steamer Josephine, which was blown up by an Austrian mine off Pola, it is said, will prove a serious blow to Austria, as she was one of the largest vessels engaged in alleged contraband traffic between Venice and Trieste.

Two More Red Cross Units to Sail for Service in Serbia.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Two additional American Red Cross units for service in Serbia will sail from New York tomorrow on the Red Star liner Finland. The two units, consisting of 12 enrolled Red Cross trained nurses and 12 enrolled Red Cross trained nurses, will land at Patras, Greece, whence they will embark on another ship for Saloniki, then journey on land either to Nish or Belgrade.

The six surgeons are: Drs. Ethan Flagg Butler and Ernest P. Magruder, Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hodge, Knoxville, Tenn.; James F. Donnelly, New York; Clapham P. King, Annapolis, Md.; and Morton Paul Lane, New Orleans.

Arrangements also have been completed for the departure of Dr. Dean F. Winslow of Atlanta, who soon will sail for Archangel, Russia, to join the American Red Cross units.

British Drive 4500 Turks From Their Trenchments.
By Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 20.—The official press bureau has issued the following report from the general commanding the British-Indian force operating on the Shat-el-Arab River and in the Persian Gulf:

"On Nov. 17 our troops drove out of an entrenched position about 4500 of the enemy, capturing two guns and many prisoners, camp equipment and ammunition."

"Our casualties were three officers killed and 15 wounded, and in the rank and file 50 men were killed and about 300 wounded."

Turkish Column Forced Back; Rain Makes Roads Impassable.
PETROGRAD, via St. Louis, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from the Havas Agency contains a statement issued by the General Staff of the Russian army in the Caucasus, which says:

"Engagements of secondary importance continue in the region of Zatchaharsk. In the valley of Gitychal, a Turkish column was defeated and forced back towards Bar."

"In the Erzerum region, action occurred along the whole front, but the fighting was impeded by the state of the roads, which have been rendered impassable by rains."

"There is no activity in other parts of the zone of operations."

Lack of Foodstuffs Felt Throughout Austrian Empire.
ROME, Nov. 20.—Reports from Trieste, telegraphed from the frontier, say the lack of foodstuffs is felt throughout Austria.

The abolition of the duty on grain, which was opposed by the agrarian party, was granted too late by the Government to be of service as Rumania, the only neutral state that could easily export grain into Austria, has prohibited export. Little grain is reaching Austria from America and Argentina because of the Anglo-French blockade.

Expert Gives Key for Understanding Zig-Zag Eastern War Situation

By the Military Expert of the New York Evening Sun.
Published in St. Louis exclusively in the Post-Dispatch by special arrangement.

A SIMPLE and satisfactory fashion in which to follow the campaign in the East is to take a map which shows the whole field of operations, including East and West Prussia, Poland, Silesia and Galicia, and on it lay down a line from the extreme northeastern point of East Prussia to the extreme southeastern point of Bukovina. In a general way, this line will represent the front of the war. Tannenberg, the opening of the Russian line into three parts, one facing East Prussia, a second behind Warsaw, a third on the frontier of Galicia—these will represent the three masses of Russian armies, to be described in this article as the Russian armies of East Prussia, Poland and Galicia.

Now, looking at the map, it will be seen that a slight advance of the East Prussian and Galician armies could bring them into German and Austrian territories respectively, while the Russian army of Poland, drawing back their army of Poland slowly. Looking at the map, it will be seen that this army is still much west of the northern and southern forces, and further withdrawal is possible without affecting the general alignment.

Tannenberg, the opening of the Russian line into three parts, one facing East Prussia, a second behind Warsaw, a third on the frontier of Galicia—these will represent the three masses of Russian armies, to be described in this article as the Russian armies of East Prussia, Poland and Galicia.

Now, looking at the map, it will be seen that a slight advance of the East Prussian and Galician armies could bring them into German and Austrian territories respectively, while the Russian army of Poland, drawing back their army of Poland slowly. Looking at the map, it will be seen that this army is still much west of the northern and southern forces, and further withdrawal is possible without affecting the general alignment.

As it now stands, the problem is this: Can Germany exercise sufficient pressure on the Russians in Poland to halt two successful Russian advances, one in Galicia, the other in East Prussia? If she can, we shall presently see Russian troops retreating from before Cracow and Koenigsberg. But if Russia can bring up sufficient reserve without weakening her invading armies, the German advance may be halted, while the progress of Russian armies north and south may in turn compel the Germans in Poland to retire to their defensive lines on the frontier, and send reinforcements to East Prussia and Galicia.

A Napoleonic Move.
Von Hindenburg, in Poland, is now attempting to do what Napoleon tried in Eastern France in 1814. Napoleon, with a small army admirably led, endeavored by successive blows to beat back three armies moving westward toward Paris. Each of them in turn he defeated splendidly, but while he was fighting with one, the other two slipped forward, and he was compelled to turn to deal with the army he had just beaten.

Similarly, when the Russian Army of East Prussia was assailed, it withdrew, having suffered defeat, but the armies of Galicia and Poland advanced. Today, the army of Poland, being assailed, is withdrawing, but those of Galicia and East Prussia are storming forward furiously. The parallel with the Napoleonic campaign is plain. Von Hindenburg seems to be displaying a real measure of Napoleon's genius, and the Russian army is being beaten back three times moving westward toward Paris. Each of them in turn he defeated splendidly, but while he was fighting with one, the other two slipped forward, and he was compelled to turn to deal with the army he had just beaten.

At the same time, the Russian army of Galicia crossed the Austrian frontier and drove westward, with Lemberg as a central point. Lemberg was occupied Sept. 1; by Sept. 12 the Russians were west of the San River and driving for Cracow, pounding the Austrian armies to pieces as they advanced, and approaching the outworks of Cracow.

A second German counter-stroke was then required. This time the Germans, gathering up all their strength, drove at the Russian center, against the Russian army of Poland. The immediate purpose of this advance was to compel the Russians to retire troops from Galicia and use them to reinforce the army of Poland. A secondary object was to occupy Western Poland and take up a defensive line from the Baltic to the Carpathians.

Natural Defense Line.
To grasp the German conception, draw a third line, this time from Koenigsberg, through Warsaw and Przemysl to the Carpathians. Such a line would have as a military advantage the Maurian lakes, the Narw, Vistula and San Rivers. Behind these natural obstacles, the German-Austrian armies could hope to stand on the defensive for an indefinite time.

The second German counterstroke succeeded, temporarily, in its first object. Russian troops were withdrawn from Galicia and transferred to Poland. Austrian armies were able to take the offensive, and the Russian line was broken. But before Warsaw the Germans were outflanked, and compelled to retire hastily, and the general withdrawal presently extended to Galicia, where Austrian troops fell back, and the Russians again approached Cracow.

Meanwhile, Russia, in her turn, struck back, using her East Prussian army. Once more, look at the first line, and it will be seen that with Russian troops again before Cracow and westward of Lodz, in Poland, the conquest of East Prussia would straighten out the whole front. Thus, instead of sending their masses after their retreating Germans in Poland, it now seems probable the Russians turned them north to reinforce the East Prussian army, already well across the frontier.

As the Germans had drawn troops from East Prussia to meet against Warsaw, it now became necessary to relieve the pressure there. To do this Von Hindenburg repeated the maneuver which had before relieved the pressure upon Galicia, and struck east along the Vistula toward Warsaw. This is the operation now going forward, which is filling all the war dispatches today.

The Russian Dilemma.
In this situation, the Russians have to choose between drawing back troops from East Prussia to reinforce their forces in Poland, and drawing back their army of Poland slowly. ## Expert Gives Key for Understanding Zig-Zag Eastern War Situation

By the Military Expert of the New York Evening Sun.
Published in St. Louis exclusively in the Post-Dispatch by special arrangement.

A SIMPLE and satisfactory fashion in which to follow the campaign in the East is to take a map which shows the whole field of operations, including East and West Prussia, Poland, Silesia and Galicia, and on it lay down a line from the extreme northeastern point of East Prussia to the extreme southeastern point of Bukovina. In a general way, this line will represent the front of the war. Tannenberg, the opening of the Russian line into three parts, one facing East Prussia, a second behind Warsaw, a third on the frontier of Galicia—these will represent the three masses of Russian armies, to be described in this article as the Russian armies of East Prussia, Poland and Galicia.

PROF. USHER TELLS HOW GERMANY GOT READY FOR WAR

Every Preparation Had Been Made and Nothing Was Needed When Time Came.

Prof. Roland G. Usher of Washington University, author of "Pan-Germanism," spoke before the Coterie Club at the Washington Hotel last night on "How Germany Financed the War."

Usher said that Germany had everything in readiness, and the marvelous speed with which the army was mobilized, and put to the front was one of the most extraordinary things ever accomplished.

"The English and the French went about their war measures in the same manner that they did in the eighteenth century," Usher said. "They went to war just as nations did before political economy was ever discussed. Their method was archaic, as compared with the Germans."

Germany had long realized her serious position in Europe. The German people were practically in the center of Europe, and had to look out for themselves.

"They knew that the war was bound to come some day—and so they prepared to defend themselves, if necessary, from two nations at once. This preparation for protection and defense likewise gave them the resources to attack two nations at once, if need be."

Usher said that practically no money was needed at the outbreak of the war. The railroads were owned by the Government—so to send the soldiers to the front only required that a pass be given each soldier, and off he went. They needed to buy no automobiles—they simply requisitioned all they needed, and gave in return a government paper which called for so much to be paid the owner in the new paper money just issued.

"Money itself is only an article of exchange," he said. "War does not cause prices to rise, or to slump. It is the law of supply and demand. And the imperial bureau of Germany saw to it that the prices were kept down to a right proportion."

Usher said that when the war was declared only about 6 per cent of the German population was unemployed.

"And work for those who did not go to the front, was speedily found," he said. "If there was a demand for a manufacturer's products, the Government saw that the factory supplied it. If there was no demand for those products, they turned the factory to something else that was needed."

Usher said that most people did not realize the enormous resources of Germany today. "That is a country of 70,000,000 people," he said. "Only about 5,000,000 are under arms. Of the remainder, only about 15,000,000 are children, and of these a goodly

26 MEN INDICTED IN THE ARKANSAS MINE TROUBLES

Conspiracy Against Government to Interrupt Justice Charged by U. S. Grand Jury.

By Associated Press.
PORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 20.—Twenty-six persons, including former officials of the United Mine Workers of America, were indicted yesterday by the special United States grand jury investigating the troubles in the Hartford mining district.

Among those indicted are Peter R. Stewart, former president of the mine workers for District No. 21, comprising Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas; Fred W. Holt, former secretary; James S. Siskind, constable at Hartford; and James McNamara, former member of the City Council at Hartford.

They are charged with conspiring against the Government to interrupt justice in connection with the troubles at Prairie Creek of the Bache-Dennan Coal Co.

The men are accused of sending threatening letters to Judge Frank A. Youmans, who enjoined the union miners, taking away prisoners from a Deputy United States Marshal and participation in the riots of last July.

Assurances of union labor leaders that the nonunion workers of the Bache-Dennan company could enter Hartford Valley without trouble proved to be in good faith yesterday when a band of 25 or more men arrived at the camp of the Prairie Creek No. 4 mine with little or no interest being manifested in their movements. Last night a small guard of soldiers from Troop B, Fifth Cavalry, was stationed at the nonunion camp.

SHOOTING OF GROCER DUE TO GRUDGE, POLICE SAY

Wm. Bruening, in Serious Condition, Once Testified Against a Highwayman.

The police say that William Bruening, manager of a grocery at Blair avenue and O'Fallon street, who was shot at the store Tuesday night, was not wounded by highwaymen, but by persons having a grudge against him. He is in a serious condition at St. Mary's infirmary.

Bruening told the police two men entered the store and began shooting without giving him any warning. About five years ago Bruening appeared as a witness against two highwaymen and, upon his identification of a revolver used in the attack, one of the men was convicted and given a two-year sentence.

FOOD FIRST NEED OF BELGIUM; MILK IN GREAT DEMAND

American Commission for Shipping Supplies Establishes New York Office.

KANSAS CHARTERS SHIPS
Hawaii Sends $35,000 Cash, and San Francisco Will Send Ship Via Panama.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The American Commission for Relief in Belgium, which was formed by Ambassador Walter Hines Page in London soon after it became apparent that famine was impending, has opened offices at 71 Broadway and hired dock space.

The commission announced today that it was ready to ship provisions in any quantity straight through to Belgium. This commission, the shipping strictly to the transportation end of Belgian relief work, and does not in any way conflict with relief committees already constituted in America. It has the funds to handle all the shipments which America can make this winter and it has made all diplomatic arrangements to have the food sent expeditiously without interference.

Already 17,000 tons of food have been sent across the sea and distributed, with the help of the German military authorities; 3,000 tons are now afloat, and the commission announced today that 40,000 tons more were in sight.

Needs 500,000 Tons.
Lindon W. Bates, American vice-chairman of the commission, said today: "In spite of the efforts of the Belgian relief commission, the Rockefeller Foundation and many other organizations at work in the West, Belgium cannot be fed at this pace. American members of the commission declare we must send at least a half million tons of food this winter."

"Certain parts of the West are doing nobly, but certain others have not yet awakened to the call on our charity. William E. Edgar, editor of the Northwestern Miller at Minneapolis, has been at work among the flour men in the Northwest and a whole cargo of flour is on the way to us from there. Former Gov. Stubbs of Kansas, chairman of the committee formed by Gov. Hedges, is preparing to fill two ships with supplies, the gift of the Kansas people. San Francisco is about to send a special ship via Panama."

Carload Per Country.
"A proposition is on foot to send a carload of wheat or flour from every one of the 48 counties of Iowa, Jordan and California, and other sections are now hard at work; but from many sections of the country the call has had no response. Hawaii has sent $35,000 cash."

"What Belgium needs most of all is food—any kind of food, so long as it will stand ocean transportation. It would be a good thing to send the Belgians clothing, were it not that food is the first necessity of life, and America will have to strain every effort to deliver winter to bring the Belgians through alive. Wheat, flour, beans, peas and preserved meats are especially needed, but perhaps above all things the most pathetic need of Belgium is for condensed milk. The cattle are gone, and children of a certain age cannot live without milk."

"The commission hopes to be able to announce in a few days a plan whereby any person wishing to send food in small quantities may do so without further trouble than delivering the goods at an express office. We will then be able to send any and all supplies from the point of first shipment clear to the committee in Belgium free of cost to the donor."

Women Are Enrolled.
Women's organizations whose memberships aggregate 5,900,000 have enrolled in an executive co-operating committee to assist the American Commission. Fourteen national and international women societies, including the Congress of Mothers, International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Daughters of the American Revolution, have joined the movement.

Roper, chairman; Mrs. M. Arnot, Miss N. Kruger, A. O. Steideman, G. D. Hunter, W. Gibbons and the Rev. J. H. Cloud.

The De L'Epée celebration is to be an all-St. Louis event and a part of the nationwide effort to raise funds for a statue in America to Abbe De L'Epée, founder of the deaf mute instruction. ## ARSENIC IN CAKES THAT KILLED GIRL, MADE THREE ILL

Iowa Family Stricken After Breakfast—Wife Mysteriously Attacked Three Years Ago.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Ia., Nov. 20.—Physicians are investigating the mysterious death of Ines Jordan, 14 years old, daughter of J. B. Jordan, and the illness of three members of the family, agree that all symptoms show arsenic poisoning. The family became ill Wednesday, soon after eating pancakes at breakfast. Ines Jordan died that evening. Her father, her wife, and Cyrus, their 18-year-old son, will recover. The flour from which the pancakes were made was destroyed, which prevents an analysis of it being made. It was purchased at a local grocery store who sold out the entire shipment, and no other flour was reported as defective from it. It is believed the poison was placed in it after it left the store.

Mrs. Jordan was mysteriously attacked three years ago, and left unconscious. Her assailant was never discovered. Jordan is janitor of the Methodist Church here.

DOLLAR MARK SYMBOL FOR POLITICAL REFORM

It Is Urged as Substitute for "High Brow" at National Municipal League Session.

By Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—Political reform organizations must "come down to earth," remove "the sign of the 'high brow' and substitute the 'dollar mark,' which alone apparently is sufficiently potent to be effective," according to an expression to today's session of the National Municipal League by its committee on plan of political organization.

The committee report declares that a plan which relies for support "upon the class who have reached the elevation where they look down upon selfishness and are moved solely by altruistic considerations, must fail. The number is too limited."

"It will not do for the so-called 'high brow' to invel against the complacency of the average citizen. It will not do to assume that all voters are corruptly influenced when they support political faction. A plan of political organization to secure the following required to win at the polls must be built upon the mainprinciple of human action, self-interest. To much stress is laid upon patriotism, civic pride and the like, and too little upon what the continuance of the initiative measure providing for the abolition of the death penalty means to the purse and the person of the individual citizen."

12 EXECUTIONS TO WAIT TILL AFTER CHRISTMAS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 20.—Twelve of 14 counties, in the official election count, give a majority of 719 against the initiative measure providing for the abolition of the death penalty, the vote being 14,500 for and 15,319 against. Execution of 11 of 12 convicted men is set for Dec. 13. Gov. Hunt having granted reprieves until after the election returns determined the people's will. One man is under sentence of death, but the date has not yet been fixed.

In case the measure is defeated, the vote seems to indicate Gov. Hunt probably will reprieve all the men until after Christmas and then scatter the date for their execution.

Toytown Opens and Santa Claus Makes His Appearance!

Special Attractions

It would be impossible to enumerate everything which might be classed as an attraction on the Fifth Floor tomorrow, but here are three entertainments which are deserving of special mention:

At 2 P. M.—

Miss Margaret, "The Paint Lady,"

Will entertain the little ones, teaching them how to use the brush and paints. Supplies will be furnished without charge.

At 2:45 P. M.—

Claude H. Wetmore—Author,

Will read from his book, "Bedtime Stories." This charming little book has delighted thousands of little ones, and the privilege of hearing the author read from it should not go unheeded.

At 3:30 P. M.—

Miss Dawson—"Story Teller"

The children love Miss Dawson—and small wonder, for you would have to go a long way to find one to equal her feats in story-telling. She has a fine lot of new ones for tomorrow.

Certainly there is no reason in the world why extraordinary doings should not be the rule tomorrow on this gala occasion.

There will be a number of attractions throughout the store, but every little boy and every little girl will be delighted to see the wonderful stocks of new Toys which Santa Claus personally has gathered.

Notwithstanding the great war in Europe

There Are More Toys Here Than Toytown Has Ever Shown

And every little boy and girl, and the grown-ups, who will not admit it, but like toys just as well, know that Toytown is the logical place to come for Toys.

Remember, the invitation is for all boys and girls. Every one will receive a hearty welcome and there will be surprises galore!

As almost the entire stock of foreign goods was received before the European trouble began, the assortment is as large and complete as ever before. Prices are the same as in normal times, and while the present stock lasts will not be advanced.

Early selection is advisable, as foreign goods cannot be duplicated this season.

Purchases made now reserved for later delivery, if desired.

An Unrivalled Sale of Men's and Young Men's Clothes —Three Different Lots on Sale at Radically Reduced Prices

Tomorrow morning we shall present, for the first time, a wonderful lot of Men's and Young Men's Suits and Overcoats of high quality at a price that cannot fail to bring big results. In addition, we shall continue the sale of the other two special lots, which have proven so popular amongst clothing purchasers.

It will pay you to read the details of this sale over very carefully if you contemplate the purchase of a new Suit or Overcoat.

$31.75 for Men's and Young Men's Suits, Formerly $35, $40 and $45

Men's and Young Men's Suits in two and three-button single-breasted styles. These are English models, such as will please the young man who is particular about his dress. The materials include both the soft and hard-finished English fabrics in browns, grays, green, blues and various combinations in plaids, overplaids and tan checks and stripes.

Some of these suits are silk lined while a few have a very high-grade venetian lining. Sizes up to 40 chest measure.

For men and young men who desire suits in conservative styles, we are ready to offer choice from a number of different models from those with the semi-fitting backs to those with loose, box backs.

These suits are made of chevots, worsteds, cassimeres and unfinished worsteds in shades and patterns which will be becoming to everyone.

$31.75 for Men's and Young Men's Overcoats, Formerly $35, $40 and $45

If you have been paying a much higher price for your Overcoats, by all means see the ones included in this special sale as they are, in our opinion, of any $50 to $75 tailored overcoats.

We have so many different models that no difficulty will be found in fitting any man, regardless of his size, or figure.

We have the Chesterfield models, Overcoats with shawl collars in both single and double breasted effects, and the double-breasted English Coats.

A three-button Chesterfield model of conservative style can be had of Worumbo chinchilla in blue and in two weaves, one a fine knot and the other a heavier knot; also Melton and Kersey Overcoats in blue and black.

In this same sale will be found Overcoats made of domestic Montague in black, which has the appearance of a chinchilla, but is far superior. This is in a Chesterfield model and is form-fitting.

There are also Shawl-Collar Overcoats made of Worumbo chinchilla in gray, blue, tan and brown, all of which have belts, some in the back only, and others in ulster style, all around.

For the young man we have some very stylish Shawl-Collar Overcoats in gray, tan and dark mixtures.

All of our Overcoats are made with the patented pocket, which does not permit it to sag or get out of shape, regardless of what is put into it.

WOMAN BEATEN IN CHURCH YARD DIES WITHOUT SPEAKING

Delicate Operation on Skull Fails to Revive Her So She Can Describe Assailant.

MANIAC THEORY RAISED

Man Who Ran on "All Fours" Seen Lurking Around Scene of Crime at Aurora, Ill.

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 20.—Miss Jennie Miller, who was struck down with a pipe wrench and left unconscious in the yard of the Free Methodist Church here Wednesday night, died today. She had not spoken since the attack. Miss Miller was 55 years old, and the daughter of a former Mayor of the town. She was considered wealthy. The police have been unable to identify the assailant. A delicate operation on her skull failed to revive her. It was believed that a maniac had attacked and crushed her skull.

To the last minute physicians tried to bring the woman back to consciousness, at least long enough that she might give some clue as to the identity of her assailant. A delicate operation in which two pieces of bone pressing on her brain were removed failed to produce the effect desired.

Wide Search for Slayer.
The police and dozens of citizens have searched for the slayer. A score of possible clues have been run down. The fact that Miss Miller's "bag" containing $85, and her jewelry were not found seems to strengthen the robbery theory.

On the other hand, persons living near the church yard where the attack took place point to strange actions on the part of a "tall, thin man," seen to lurk in the shrubbery, making strange noises, and even running along on all fours.

Miss Miller conducted a private library, and, it is said, was in the habit of carrying home the day's receipts in her in the evenings.

he similarity between the attack on Miss Miller and the murder of Theresa Landier, who was clubbed to death in the St. Nicholas Cemetery last winter, strengthens the theory that both women were attacked by some maniac. Anthony, former auditor of Miss Holland's, tried twice for the girl's murder.

after a disagreement by the first a acquitted by the second jury.

Theory That a Jealous Husband, in wait for a wife who had been eating another man in the shadow of church three nights a week, struck Miss Miller, by mistake, was also followed up by the police. They seemed to find the names of the persons involved, but said that a Mrs. J. Scott, a man three blocks from the scene the crime throw up his hand and toward the sidewalk edge, exclaiming: "Oh, my God! Oh, my God!"

A Scott saw this man about ten minutes after Miss Miller was struck.

E. Budlong, who was with Miss Miller within two blocks of the spot she was attacked, said Miss Miller was a moving picture enthusiast and there was hardly a night in the year he did not visit a motion picture show before going to her apartment. Mrs. Budlong had been her guest Wednesday night.

Several persons have told the police they saw a man lurking near the corner where Miss Miller was attacked but two agree on his description.

John Killebrew, a contractor, telephoned the police last night that he had discovered that a pipe wrench had been stolen from him and promised to try to identify it as the one with which Miss Miller was attacked.

Dr. Fischel bequeathed the greater part of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Martha Fischel. However to his daughter, Dr. Fischel gave the country home.

SIGN - CARRIER IS FREED

Police Release Man Who, on Placard, Asked for Work.

Frank Vitt of 1210 Sidney street has been released by the police after having been held for nearly a week in the observation ward at the city hospital because he carried about the streets a large sign proclaiming that unless he was given work he would be driven to crime.

Vitt said yesterday that he believed he had been improperly treated, and that he would walk the streets now with a new sign. An acquaintance of Vitt is authority for the statement that Vitt, while a good workman, was an agitator and for that reason could not keep a steady job.

August C. Hofman, 22 years old, of 2223A Clarence avenue, and John E. Sanders, 29 years old, of 4745A South Broadway, were killed yesterday in street accidents.

Hofman was riding a motor cycle at 2 p. m. and at the corner of Nebraska avenue and Winnebago street he collided with a Grand-Leader motor truck driven by George Villard, 25, of 112 O'Fallon street. Hofman was thrown 20 feet and died in the office of a physician where he was carried by Villard. Sanders was driver for Louis Schaefer, who has a meat stand at Union Market. His wagon was struck by an Olive car at the corner of Nineteenth street at 4:25 p. m. The horse was dragged some distance and killed. Sanders was carried to the city hospital, where he died. Frank Bruno, 23, of 1548 Leroy avenue, the motorman of the car, was arrested.

By Ripley D. Saunders.
Dramatic Critic of the Post-Dispatch, Who Is in New York Reviewing the Season's New Plays.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The most emotional moment that makes the winning appeal of "The Hawk," in which I have just seen William Faversham and Mlle. Gabrielle Dorziat of the Ambigu Theatre, Paris, at the Shubert, is reached when the Countess Marina de Dassetta confronts her broken-down gambler husband, Comte George de Dassetta of Hungary, to ask his consent to a divorce that shall enable her to marry Rene de Tierrache, a young Parisian who loves her and would make her his wife if she were free.

"If Marina herself will come to me here," says De Dassetta to Eric Dragon of New York, who represents the woman and her honorable lover, "and in person ask me to consent to the divorce, I will not refuse her."

The husband and wife are face to face. They are rascals both. They cheat at cards. It has been the wife's part to act as her husband's confederate at the gaming table and to entice there the young and old spendthrifts for whom he intends to fleece. She has not been forced to this blacked task. It was originally at her own suggestion that their cheating at cards was begun. She loved all life's luxuries and demanded the money necessary to induce them. Her husband adored her and she was fonder of him than she realized at most moments of their adventurous companionship.

Suddenly, however, she loved—or fancied that she loved—the deeply serious and earnest-looking young Rene de Tierrache. She was in reality fascinated, and, at first plied by his severe austerity. She allured him into loving her. But it was not a sinful love. Rene did not covet her as his mistress—he wanted her as his wife. So, when he caught her and her husband cheating at cards and she excited his pity and sympathy by her ashamed and remorseful revulsion against her mode of life, he demanded that she leave her husband and she consented.

Mlle. Dorziat a Great Artist. The swindling Comte de Dassetta, deserted by the woman whom he worshipped, had become a derelict drug-friend. His heart was broken. His courage was gone. His husband at cards had failed him. He lost and lost and lost until he was virtually a beggar. Pale, shaking, unshaven, a pathetic figure—yet splendid in his refusal of the fortune offered as the bribe for his surrender of his wife to Rene de Tierrache—he now faces that wife to consent to a divorce if she herself shall ask it.

The interview between the two is infinitely touching. Mlle. Dorziat as the wife here outplays Mr. Faversham as the husband, although he realizes that role with fine effectiveness. But the French woman's work is incomparable in artistry. She makes one feel acutely the sudden and startlingly unexpected stab of accusing love that pierces Marina's heart as first she gazes upon the "dope" wreck who was once that widely-loved, righteously or evilly placed as may be, is in its final analysis an indestructible and all-dominating thing for good or ill, through better or worse, till death shall part.

irresistible tenderness, Marina throws herself into Dassetta's arms, sobbing aloud that they too shall remain as one and begin life over again together. A great thrush of approving contentment is the audience's response. God bless us all—this is the only salvation for these two sinners, black sheep, but true lovers that they are!

Specialist Explains Cause of Stomach Trouble

VALUABLE ADVICE TO SUFFERERS.

"There are many different forms of stomach trouble," said a well-known specialist recently, "but practically all are traceable to excessive acidity and food fermentation. That is why the results obtained from the use of drugs are usually so disappointing. Admitting fermentation and consequent acidity of the food contents to be the underlying cause of most forms of indigestion, it naturally follows that the use of a reliable antacid, such as the pure bisulphated magnesia which is so frequently prescribed by physicians, will produce better results than any known drug or combination of drugs. Accordingly I almost invariably advise those who complain of digestive trouble to get some bisulphated magnesia (note the name carefully, as other forms are unsuitable) and take from one to two teaspoonfuls of the same, dissolved in water, after meals. This immediately neutralizes the acid and stops the fermentation. It is immediately normal and healthy digestion."—ADV.

DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS" IS BEST IF HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS.

If you're headachy, constipated, bilious or stomach is disordered and you want to enjoy the nicest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, take a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" tonight and in the morning all the poison, bile and clogged-up waste will gently move out of the system without griping and you will feel splendid.

Every member of the family should use this fruit laxative as occasion demands. It is just as effective for grandpa as it is for the baby. It simply cannot injure. Even cross, sick, feverish children just love its pleasant taste and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing."

For thirty years "California Syrup of Figs" has been recommended by physicians as the ideal stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. Millions of families who are well informed use nothing else, but recently there has come a flood of spurious fig syrups, as we warn the public to ask plainly at drug stores for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," and see that it is prepared by "California Fig Syrup Company."

We make no cheaper size. Hand back any "counterfeit" with contempt.—ADV.

The congregation filed a suit to enjoin Tax Collector Koeln from attempting to collect tax bills assessed against the janitor's and janitor's residences, amounting to $237.12. It was contended that the property is exempt from taxation because it is owned by a religious corporation. The collector showed that the janitor had rented part of his home to a storekeeper and that the parsonage was not occupied by the pastor of the congregation, but is rented to another family.

MRS. HELEN SINGLETON IS AWARDED $5000

She Sued Mother-in-Law for $20,000 for Alienating Her Husband's Affections.

Mrs. Helen C. Singleton of 803 Hickory street was given a verdict in the Clayton Circuit Court yesterday for $5000 against Mrs. Mary W. Singleton, her mother-in-law, of 5175 Van Varsen avenue, for alienating the affections of her 21-year-old husband, Allen W. Singleton. She had sued for $20,000, alleging that her mother-in-law caused her husband to leave her in February.

Mrs. Mary Singleton denied that she had influenced her son. The latter testified for his mother, saying that he had left his wife of his own accord. The younger Mrs. Singleton is 22 years old. The couple have a child four months old. Their romance began in a cereal factory in East St. Louis, where both were employed. They eloped to Chicago in July, 1912.

MILLAN EXPEDITION IN ARCTIC WAS SAFE AUG. 20

Letter From Member, Written on Motor Boat in Storm, Received in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—All the members of the Crocker-Land expedition, headed by Dr. Donald B. McMillan, were well Aug. 20, according to a letter written on that date by Elmer Ekblaw, geologist of the party. Part of Ekblaw's letter was made public today by Edmund Otis Hovey, chairman of the committee in charge of the expedition. It was written aboard a motor boat in a raging sea just south of Cape Alexander. In it Mr. Ekblaw says: "By a strange freak of luck, as Joe Small and I were fleeing before a storm in our little motor boat, we met Knud Rasmussen's boat on its way to Etah with our mail and supplies. Both motor boats attempted to get by Cape Alexander, but, unable to do so, we have turned back to our camp."

TREATY DELAYED; CREAM OF RUSSIAN TRADE AWAITS U. S.

Czar's Government Wishes to See America Replace Germany as Seller.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. PETROGRAD, Oct. 25.—The failure of the United States to enter into immediate negotiations for a new trade treaty with Russia is causing considerable surprise in Petrograd.

When, more than a month ago, officials here understood that preliminary steps would be taken by the United States to sound the Russian Foreign Office on the subject of trade relations, and ascertain whether proposals pointing toward the formulation of a new treaty would be welcome, the Minister of Foreign Affairs took the view that Russia stood ready to receive such proposals, and that they would be received in the most friendly spirit by the Russian Government, which was anxious to reopen, or, more properly, to extend, the commercial relations with America.

In the Foreign Office here it was taken for granted that this would be the preface to immediate action by the United States. According to information from the Foreign Office, the terms of a new treaty have not been discussed, but it was suggested that these would be most favorable to the United States.

"As evidence of our good faith," said M. Sazonoff, Minister of Foreign Affairs, "we are already allowing America the commercial privilege enjoyed by those countries whose treaties with us contain the most favored nation clause. America has here an unparalleled opportunity. Russia offers a wide field for the particular kind of products, machinery, medical apparatus, electrical supplies, etc., in which America specializes. The field is lost to Germany. Russia herself cannot hope at once to develop the resources and technical skill necessary to supply these necessities. France and England can help, but they have not the same qualifications as America, which is especially adapted to supplying the Russian market."

"We are therefore awaiting with great interest the proposals of the United States. Until these are made, our attitude cannot be more than one of friendly receptivity. Meanwhile, however, there is no reason why American exports to Russia should not be increased without waiting for the treaty to crystallize. It will come eventually, we hope, but it is not now essential as a basis for trading. Without the formal signing of a treaty, we are willing to offer every reasonable inducement and encouragement to American merchants. The American exports to this country could be increased ten-fold. If the magnitude of the present opportunity was realized in America, there would be no hesitation."

It is pretty well agreed in Russia that, whatever the results of the war, the German monopoly of commercial and technical activity is ended, and at the same time it is realized that Russia herself is incapable of furnishing the agricultural machinery and equipment for one-sixth of the habitable globe. France is partly an agricultural and banking people, and England produces a high grade of articles which Russia does not require, and England does not really adapt her wares to new or unusual requirements. Thus, Russians say, America is the country which can most readily step into the breach left by the Germans.

KANSAS MISSIONARY IN THIBET, 'FORBIDDEN LAND'

Dr. A. L. Shelton and Party Probably Only White Men in That Country.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Nov. 20.—Word of the safe arrival in the "Forbidden Land" of Thibet of Dr. A. L. Shelton and family has been received here. Dr. Shelton and the members of his party are the only missionaries in that land, and it is probable that they are the only white people within the borders of Thibet.

Nine years ago, Dr. Shelton succeeded in entering Thibet by way of the Chinese frontier. Until that time, with the single exception of the military invasion of Col. Younghusband's troops, no white man had been allowed to enter Thibetan territory.

Dr. Shelton's two children were born in Thibet.

HER GUEST ATE TOO MUCH

Husband Also Objected, Wife Says, to Her Button Shoes.

Twenty-two charges are made by Mrs. Florence Eicholtz in her suit for divorce filed yesterday against Meryl Vern Eicholtz, an auto supply dealer at 3567 Ludlow street. Mrs. Eicholtz is living with her parents at 1908 Knox avenue.

Among the allegations is one that he quarreled with her shortly after their marriage, June 10, 1908, regarding the way she prepared a substitute for coffee. She charges that when she bought buttoned shoes he became angry and made her change them for laced ones.

Another complaint is that when Mrs. Eicholtz invited the sister of a boarder to visit as a guest, her husband, in the presence of the guest complained of the amount she, the guest, ate.

KIMMEL SPENT $1132.50

Largest Campaign Expense Account Filed.

Karl Kimmel, elected Circuit Judge at the last election, yesterday filed the largest expense account that has thus far been given the Recorder of Deeds, by any of the candidates. His total was $1132.50. Of this amount $550 was contributed to the Republican City Central Committee.

Circuit Clerk Charles R. Graves spent $382.50. The largest account among the Democratic candidates is that of Dennis P. O'Brien, candidate for License Commissioner, who spent $245.10.

The New Hupmobile Top

Two things are responsible for the ready, steady sales of Hupmobiles at this season.

One is the increased size and five-passenger room of the new model.

The other is the detachable sedan top for the touring car, and a similar coupe top for the roadster.

The new top confers all the advantages of the permanent closed car without the high extra cost.

The prospect of driving all Winter in cozy comfort is most alluring to the majority of buyers; and the new tops are receiving hearty approval.

The new tops are very reasonable in price; easily attached; look better by far than any other of the sort we have ever seen; are well built and beautifully finished inside.

We would be pleased to have you see them.

SEIGEL SECRETARY TELLS OF PADDED LISTS OF ASSETS

Former Confidential Man, Old and Feeble, Spares Neither Self Nor Employers.

KEPT STATEMENTS READY

Loans Obtained on Inventories Made Without Regard for Truth; Vogel "Double Crossed."

Special From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

GENESEE, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Oscar A. Prall, a trembling, broken old man, who formerly was Henry S. Siegel's confidential secretary, was a witness for the State yesterday in Siegel's trial for grand larceny, and gave testimony in which he spared neither Siegel, his partner, Vogel, nor himself.

Prall answered Assistant District Attorney Train's questions in reluctant whispers, but almost every one of his answers in the two hours of his ordeal was an affirmative in regard to alleged falsifications or misleading entries.

Prall's testimony had to do chiefly with the credit statements, which Siegel and Vogel submitted to the National Bank of Commerce in order to obtain the $100,000 loan for the Fourteenth street store, and which finally led to their indictments for the specific larceny of a small part of that sum. Prall said these statements were based upon absolutely nothing tangible.

Train examined Prall at length on the credit statement of the Fourteenth street store for February, 1913, drawing from the witness that Vogel assisted him in drawing up that document and that it was signed on the same day that Siegel, in discussing it with Vogel and Prall, had said: "If we show a profit under existing conditions they will say we are damned liars."

Must Show Profit to Borrow.

His conversation took place, the witness said, in Siegel and Vogel's office. Vogel had in his hand the actual summary of the condition of the Fourteenth street store and replied that "the store showed the same old losses," and they could not borrow any more money unless they showed a profit of some kind.

Vogel and Prall went into Prall's office, Prall testified, and there concurred in a credit statement for the year ending Jan. 31, 1913, which showed a profit of about $25,000.

Prall said that, while this credit statement showed that the Fourteenth street store had a capital and surplus of $1,177,000, in reality its million-dollar capital had been wiped out years before and it had lost $3,000,000 besides. The credit statement of the previous year, Prall testified, was made up with just as little regard for the truth.

Then the National Bank of Commerce asked statements of the Siegel-Cooper company, the Henry Siegel company of Boston and the Simpson-Crawford company.

"We always had a supply of statements on hand," Prall went on, "and I got them out and put them on Mr. Siegel's desk. Mr. Siegel signed them and by his instructions I mailed them to the National Bank of Commerce."

Prall identified the credit statement of the Boston store as one of three mailed to Alexander. He admitted that he was in Boston when it was drawn up and had assisted Joseph E. Priddy in preparing it.

Figures Were False.

"It was false," he said. "They were all figures taken from the books, but the books did not represent correctly the condition of the store."

Prall began his tale of nearly ten years of alleged falsification by relating the story of the statement of the Fourteenth street store for January, 1904, by which Siegel, it is alleged, "double-crossed" his own partner, Vogel.

Prall testified Siegel told him in 1904 he expected auditors to go over the books for Englishmen whom Siegel was trying to induce to put money into the store.

"I warned him," Prall said, "that the first thing they would ask for would be the inventory, and that it would not agree with the ledgers and stock books. I told him he had better make the inventory agree with the new amount on the books. I took the books and the inventory into an office and it took me two days and nights to increase the items on the inventories."

"That was done with Siegel's knowledge," Prall replied.

The English investors did not put any money into the business, but Vogel was so pleased with the figures Siegel got up for their benefit that he put another $300,000 of his own cash into the venture, it was said.

Prall testified that when Vogel came to New York in time to see the January, 1905, inventory he wanted to know "what the hell had been done the year before," and when Prall told him he was very angry and said he had been duped.

Prall said that the first statement, deliberately falsified for the purpose of borrowing money from a bank, was that of the Fourteenth street store for 1904.

Counsel for both sides were hopeful that a verdict would be obtained by Thanksgiving day. The prosecution expected to close its case before night and counsel for Siegel did not expect the presentation of the defense would require more than two days. The defense proposes to call a number of prominent New York and Chicago men as character witnesses.

The examination of Prall was to be followed by calling to the stand John S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce of New York.

COLD BREAKS BIG MAIN; NO WATER ON UPPER FLOORS

Accident at Tenth and Montgomery Streets Causes Reduction in Pressure.

LARGE DISTRICT FLOODED

Railroad Tracks Covered and Cellars Filled When 30-Inch Pipe Bursts.

The breaking of a 30-inch water main at Tenth and Montgomery streets about 5 o'clock this morning flooded the neighborhood and caused a complete failure of the supply on the upper floors of buildings in the business section through reduction of pressure.

Water Commissioner Wall sent a regular gang to shut off the water from the main and take up the broken section and replace it. He said the work would be finished and the pressure restored in a few hours.

The break was caused by the sudden change in temperature. It is rarely, though, that trouble occurs with the big 30-inch mains.

Water from the break rushed down Montgomery street from blocks to the Fifth Street Railroad and flowed over the tracks. Cellars in the neighborhood were flooded.

The pressure was also affected in the east end and many persons called up a Water Department to inquire what trouble was. The inquiry was to numerous that the telephone operator instructed to answer all questions telling briefly what had happened giving assurances that the pressure would be restored as quickly as possible.

ACTRESS WHO SUES STAGE-MANAGER HUSBAND

MRS. ROYAL CUTTER.

ACTRESS SUES HUSBAND; NAMES A CHORUS GIRL

Mrs. Wilma Cutter, an actress of 427A Page boulevard, whose stage name is Billya Norella, in her suit for divorce from Royal Cutter, stage manager of a West End theater, has named a chorus girl in the "Queen of the Movies" company which played at the Olympic Theater during the week of Sept. 20.

Mrs. Cutter says she learned last January that her husband was attentive to the same chorus girl when both were members of a musical comedy company.

When Cutter became associated with the St. Louis theater, his wife says, he kept up a correspondence with the chorus girl. Mrs. Cutter also stated that she would charge her husband with non-support. The couple met in 1909, when both were members of the Delmar Garden Stock Company. The Cutters were married in January, 1911, and separated last October. Mrs. Cutter is living at the home of her father, William Albers, a machinist.

FINED $100, GOES HOME, COMES BACK, FINED AGAIN

12th and 13th Police Court Appearances of Carpenter Within 24 Hours.

For the second time in 24 hours, Thomas McCorkle, a carpenter, of 1515 North Leffingwell avenue, was fined $100 by Judge Sanders in City Court No. 2 today on a charge of raising a disturbance at his home and using offensive language to his wife, Emma.

Mrs. McCorkle had her husband arrested on this charge Wednesday and yesterday he was fined $100, but Judge Sanders paroled him on his promise he would not repeat the offense. Last night his wife had him arrested again.

She said that after obtaining money from her to have his shoes repaired yesterday afternoon he returned home intoxicated and was again abusive. Judge Sanders revoked the parole and added another $100 to the fine.

Mrs. McCorkle testified that in the 20 years of their married life she had had McCorkle arrested 18 times.

Mrs. Rodney Saylor and Dr. Kessler

to be special attractions of Aeolian Saturday Recital

Admission will be without charge, it has been announced.

With a program of extremely attractive character, the Saturday Aeolian Recital this week promises to draw even more music lovers than any preceding one this season. The soloists for this occasion will be Mrs. Rodney Saylor, contralto, and Dr. J. J. Kessler, basso, with Mr. George H. Phelps at the Piano and Aeolian Pipe Organ.

The ever-popular Mrs. Saylor will sing Thomas' "My Heart is Weary," Needham's "Hushen" and McFadden's "Love is the Wind." Dr. Kessler's rich, deep voice will be heard in Verdi's "Infelice," Gounod's "Armourer's Song" and Bohn's "Calm is the Night."

Guilmant's great organ number "Sonata, Op. 42, No. 1" and German's "Shepherd's Dance" will be heard on the Aeolian Pipe Organ, and two interesting numbers will be played on the Piano.

As a considerable number of music lovers were last Saturday unable to find seats at the Aeolian Recital, it will be well for intending listeners to exercise promptness. Aeolian Hall is at 1004 Olive Street. It is announced that no admission will be charged for this recital which will commence Saturday promptly at three o'clock. The program follows:

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

"Better Uses for the Money."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have noted with interest the way in which your paper is boosting the new parkway scheme, and I wish you would be kind enough to grant me space in your paper for some criticisms of this outlay of money. Permit me to say I am not a permanent resident of the city, and therefore am not hurt by the new taxation (if any) required to pay for it, but it does seem that St. Louis could have spent the millions required for this scheme in a more useful manner.

In the first place, you know, St. Louis is miserably lighted. A person walking along Olive west of Twelfth street or Locust east of the portion where it is fairly well lighted by the ornamental standards; might imagine St. Louis was tearing a Zepplin attack.

Then the police are totally inadequate to properly police the city. In two days I have seen stopped four times by beggars in the principal streets, twice in daylight, once on Locust, once on $700 Grand, at 3:30 p. m. in the same block, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on Vandeventer. Only this morning I saw a negro chasing a man on the part of Chestnut, between Twenty-third and Jefferson. The lady had a butcher knife in her hand. Not a policeman in sight, but lots of automobiles and traffic.

Again St. Louis would be more attractive if the tin cans and rubbish were cleaned up each week in place of twice a year, and it would surely smell sweeter.

Further, large portions of the city are badly paved. Just note all the brick sidewalks in the principal streets, on Grand, Locust, Broadway, etc.

Of course, the parkway will go through, but there is a point I would like to call your attention to. You claim the effect will be to increase real estate values in the vicinity of the parkway. The bulk of the people who dwell on the proposed route are colored; they will have to live somewhere, and as I presume the city will not increase their incomes to assist them to a higher social status, the new route, the new parkway, which they will move, will deteriorate in value and become just like the part you are now going to wipe out.

In conclusion, I wish your paper and St. Louis would "wake up" and get enthusiastic over the protection of life and property, which protection is sadly lacking. A better record in the amount of crime, would be a stronger attraction to St. Louis than the parkway, as no matter how many parks are added the city will never become a pleasure resort; and people who visit cities or business desire protection from hold-ups and facilities to transact their business not a parkway to gaze on.

A WELL WISHER.

Notes of a Hasbeen.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

One dollar and thirty-five cents in my pocket. I strolled along Grand avenue, passed by the photo-play for something I have a great passion for, grand opera; 10-cent seats all gone; $1.50 cheapest. Back down Grand avenue. Fair amusement in vaudeville show for 25 cents. Then to dance called "Charity Ball." Do not dance, but proffered 25 cents as spectator and to aid children; was told could obtain admission only by paying $5.50. This was 11 p. m. Back to my room, my pipe and to bed. God help charity and the poor as I see it. A POOR WOULD-BE CHARITABLE MAN.

Some Go to Jail.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

For the past month I have been reading in St. Louis the usual crime stories, street car fights, cases of auto speeders, street affairs—in fact, all stories of the sort.

Down near toward the end of the articles I always notice favorite paragraphs like this: "When questioned by the police all parties were released."

"When Mr. Blank explained to Judge Blank he was permitted to return to his business."

"After telling the police that the street car conductor, who is now in the hospital with a broken skull, was the one who started the row on the car, Blank and Blank were released, etc., etc."

Don't anybody have to ever go to jail in St. Louis?

NEWCOMER.

Extend the Taylor Line.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In the Public Service Commission report no mention is made of extending the Taylor line south to Tower Grove line on King's highway. Attending a summer garden is out of the question for us, as the best we can expect in the Grand car is separate seats. After often, there is standing room only, and the Delmar is always crowded from Grand west.

Our church and our friends are in the West End, and I am sure the occupants of the new apartments springing up around here are in the same position. I hope some notice will be taken of residents west of Sprine and south of Tower Grove Park.

THE PARKWAY TEST.

In the matter of the Parkway the public interest is superior to all other interests. It should be paramount with the members of the Municipal Assembly who are charged with the public interest by the people. The responsibility rests upon these public officials who must decide whose interest they shall serve—the interest of all the people or the interest of individuals and corporations.

Progress is attended always by change. It frequently causes inconvenience and some disaster to individuals. Fortunately, in the case of the Parkway, the burden to property owners is only temporary. In the end they will profit by the change and improvement. They will receive fair compensation for property taken by the city and will reap the profits of increased values for property in the improvement district.

The legal process by which the Parkway must be created and provided for will give ample time for readjustment of private interests. The construction of the Parkway will take several years. All of the property owners and business men will have at least a year before change is necessary. It will be from three to five years before Federal League Park will be touched. St. Louis University may be burdened for a time, but in the end will profit. So with other interests. There will be seven years in which to pay for the improvement. Land owners and business men affected should take the larger view of the project and join with the city in work which will benefit the community as a whole and will mark a long step towards the greater and more beautiful St. Louis which is the objective of St. Louisans. The city will deal fairly with private interests and whatever the views of those representing them, the public interest should prevail at the city hall. Public officials should be governed by consideration of public advantage.

The first decision rests with the House of Delegates and primarily with the Public Improvements Committee, of which Delegate Andrew Scully is chairman. With Mr. Scully on this committee are Delegates Thomas J. Butler, Herman J. Meisner, Thomas M. Byrne, James F. Ford, John Moog and Henry F. Ebrecht. Four members have publicly announced that they would favorably report the Parkway bill and support it. This is a majority of the committee. Fidelity to the pledge will assure a favorable report. A majority of the House is pledged to support the bill. Fidelity to this public pledge will assure the passage of the bill.

If Delegates change their minds and votes the people of St. Louis who favor the Parkway will want to know why.

The House is controlled by Democrats. It was a combine of Democrats which blocked free bridge completion. Do the House Democrats want to be identified with continual obstruction to the city's progress and welfare?

THE JUVENILE COURT.

In apportioning the work of the Circuit bench the new Judges should not overlook the unusually good record of Judge Hennings in the Juvenile Court. Special qualifications are needed to deal successfully with the youthful offenders who appear in this court. Love of the work and a sympathetic understanding are fundamental necessities. Some Judges do not care for the task and others, with excellent judicial qualities and equipment, are fitted by temperament and mental attitude to handling the cases which come to that court.

When a Judge demonstrates special fitness for Juvenile Court work it is the part of wisdom to keep him in the service as long as possible. We offer this suggestion that Judge Hennings be retained with an understanding of the deference due the judgment of the Judges as to the interest of the Circuit bench as a whole and the rules governing its conduct.

FULL CREW LAW REFERENDUM.

Complete returns show that the full crew law, suspended under the referendum, has been defeated by 164,000 majority.

Few of the important newspapers of the country coming to the Post-Dispatch office since election have failed to comment admiringly on this full crew referendum. It is years since Missouri has had as many bouquets thrown at her. Evidence of the "subsidence of the anti-railroad war" is found by one paper in the fact that "even Missouri, a State notably hostile to all corporations," has defeated it.

Some saw in the result a text for sermons on "trust the people." Lessons are pointed out from a variety of viewpoints. Advocates of the referendum are delighted with the vindication direct legislation has received.

Conservatives who feared injurious popular action through prejudice are derided. Railroad organs extract great comfort from it. Missouri is thanked effusively. The common sense of her people was universally eulogized when it was supposed the adverse majority would hardly exceed 100,000. Epigrams are made on the flight of big business from the Legislature to the voters for protection.

Everybody seems pleased. Instructive conclusions are indeed to be drawn from the vote, but Missouri, blushing and confused, has been too busy acknowledging compliments to draw them. In the general rejoicing we hope no one will hint that from the same election, believed to reveal a newly awakened and tender solicitude for the railroads, a harsh insensibility to blind unfortunate might be argued, a referendum proposal for their relief being also defeated.

We hope, too, that no one will whisper that proposals offensive to the prohibition sentiment of the country and other proposals offensive to the anti-prohibition sentiment of the cities caused a large element among the voters to oppose solidly and undiscriminately all the 15 referendum positions on the ballot. For there really were many who did discriminate. Woman suffrage was defeated by 140,000 and St. Louis home rule by 175,000, while relief for the blind was defeated by only 40,000.

Probably the full crew law would have been rejected anyway. It has worked hardship in some other states, but then the railroads of those states are burdened with the capitalization represented by huge investments for the additional safety double tracks give. Of all the states of large railroad mileage, Missouri has the least double track. Presumably its railroads must have an excess in average resources over systems which have already spent large sums in this improvement.

Will Missouri roads now devote these resources to double-track building? Will they devote to the same purpose the money they will save through the full crew law's defeat?

A NEW CONSTITUTION.

The defeat of all the amendments to the State Constitution in the recent election emphasizes the difficulty of amending fundamental law in general elections. Efforts in the main are futile, regardless of the value of the changes proposed. Good and bad are voted down, the good probably because they are submitted with the bad or with unpopular proposals.

Amendments dealing with the liquor question usually prevent intelligent consideration of others submitted with them, because they arouse bitter campaigns and voters on both sides ballot blindly for or against the entire list of proposals. The free use of the initiative and referendum has loaded down the ballots with so many proposals, good and bad, that the voters will not give time and labor to gain intelligent understanding of them or will not take time to mark their ballots. Yet the Constitution needs amending. Excellent proposals which should by all means be incorporated in the Constitution have been lost. Several changes necessary to adapt the Constitution to modern requirements should be adopted.

The truth is the State Constitution is antiquated. More than the generation allotted for the life of a Constitution has passed since the present instrument was adopted.

Patching an old Constitution serves to help matters, but it is not wholly satisfactory. It is better to have a new one. When patching is practically impossible a new instrument is necessary.

The people of the State should prepare for a constitutional convention. The first work of a successful constitutional movement is to discover what is needed—what the provisions of a new Constitution should be. We should take stock and learn what we lack. We should find out what sort of a Constitution we want.

There should be a campaign of discussion and education. Public opinion should be aroused and informed. Then it should be crystallized in a definite program.

The organization of a Constitutional League, such as Ohio had, to organize the movement and conduct the campaign would be a wise first step. It would prepare the way for a satisfactory conclusion.

RANSOM FOR STRICKEN CHILDREN.

While the City Health Department buys antitoxin for $1.32 per 5000 units, the fixed price to druggists is $3.50 and the fixed price to stricken families invaded by diphtheria is $7.50.

With 453 cases of diphtheria in this city, this cruel extortion becomes a matter of urgent importance. In severe cases the units required to effect a cure will cost $100, more than families in straitened circumstances can pay. The combine which, it is charged, exists to maintain the price, is one of the meanest of all beneficiaries of the monopoly principle. Assuming that the price to the city represents a fair profit, the excess over that profit obtained by manufacturers and druggists is a ransom demanded for the lives of children.

This remedy, which has brought about reductions in the diphtheria mortality, is one of the things we owe to Germany. Is the boon which Dr. Behring aimed to confer on humanity in perfecting it to be only a boon to manufacturing and other pharmaceuticals, enabling them to extort money from the needs of the suffering?

State and Federal authorities, both of whom seem to have jurisdiction, should bring down the high price of this means of preserving life. While they are about it, they might bring down the high price of some of science's other gifts to humanity, which are also made a source of big dividends to commercial laboratories.

GALLANT GERMAN SEA CAPTAIN.

It is pleasant to record an incident in German warfare at sea which is a bright spot in the dark scene of devastation. The report of it comes from British sources via London, which sources and which capital probably are not actuated by any excessive desire to do justice to the Germans. The fact that other reports were given to the world by the same authority has been urged as a reason for believing them misrepresentations.

The Emden captured the Kabinga in the Bay of Bengal, but when Capt. von Muller learned that our skipper's wife and children were aboard, he presented the ship to the lady, remarking: "You can inform your owners that, as far as they are concerned, the Kabinga has been seized and sunk."

Now, wasn't that a gracious thing, done so graciously as to add to the captivating quality of the act itself? Capt. von Muller has winning ways. The world will be only too glad to believe that he is a better representative of the true genius of Germany than the commander who ordered Louvain burned.

If the Kabinga had been sunk, Germany's gain would have been only the negative gain of one more merchant ship lost to the British. She was spared and Germany's gain is an act of generosity and a bon mot which are of agreeable flavor now and which historians will be glad to magnify when more important phases of the war are ignored.

No child of school age should be prevented from going to school for lack of suitable clothing. But the necessity for the State to step in and provide such clothing has not been proved. At present, the Provident Association and the other great charitable bodies furnish clothes, including shoes, to children, in cases where it is impossible for the family to do so and where the lack of these necessities would keep the children at home.

"HAS ANYBODY HERE SEEN THE PRINCE?"

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

MR. ANTWINE ON JOHN LIND.

"WELL, John Lind's muffler has finally come off," Mr. Antwine said. "He talks freely at last, and we have now a much better idea of conditions in Mexico, thanks to expert and official observation. The Mexicans are working out their salvation the only way it can be worked out, and if we keep on leaving them alone they will emerge ere long into peace and light. John says the trouble down there is economic. A few people own everything. Twenty-seven men, for instance, own the State of Morelos, where the Zapatistas have their stronghold. John says there cannot be any peace in Mexico until the land question is settled. The Mexican people can only try out one man after another until they find someone who can give them what they want. Madero promised it, but was not able to make the promise good. Huerta represented the landowners themselves. Carranza talked about doing it until he got into the Executive Mansion. Then he forgot it. "Only Villa seems to have been sincere all the time, and the people naturally rally to Villa every time he takes the field. It looks as if Villa would have to be President and do it himself. John doesn't say so, but one infers as much from what he does say. John is never verbose. He may be said to utter no more than clews which one is at liberty to follow to conclusions. That is John. But think of 27 men owning one of those rich states! Is it any wonder that Zapata fights and keeps on fighting? Who wouldn't fight? The issue gets a little clouded down there once in a while. We have there the spectacle of a people who would like to own their own country and are having a hell of a time doing it. That is all there is to it."

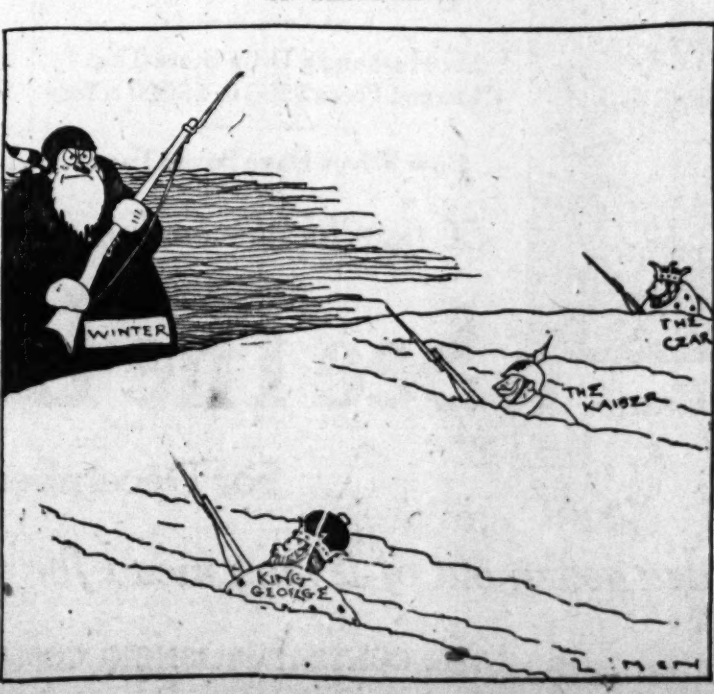

Roger Bresnahan has signed a three-year contract to manage the Chicago Cubs at $13,000 a year (baseball count). Roger is about our best baseball player in the business office.

There was a naval fight between the Russians and Turks yesterday, which was won by both sides.

"ON WHOSE SIDE?"

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

ETIQUETTE.

A. B. C.—Miss Bux, let me introduce my friend, Mr. Fuss. (Drive pegs into sneaky shoes.)

P. H. T.—A writer on etiquette says: If you are cutting meat or anything that requires the use of both knife and fork, you turn the fork with the points downward, holding it on the upper part of the handle, never in the middle or near the prongs. The knife must also be held near the end of the handle. If you are using your fork to raise food to your lips then it must be turned over with the prongs upward. If you are eating all vegetables (and just now nearly all vegetables are eaten with a fork instead of a spoon), you must take them from the side of the fork, never thrusting the end of the fork into your mouth. Salad is cut with the side of the fork and then eaten from the side of the fork. Fish, soft articles at their best, anything that does not absolutely demand the use of a knife, are separated into small pieces by the use of a fork, which is most excellent, as the knife, at its best, is an ungainly utensil.

HEALTH HINTS.

READER—For digestive habit: Mouth-wash—Six ounces silver nitrate solution, one-eighth to one-fourth of 1 per cent (cost does not exceed 1 cent). Use as a mouth wash after each meal, not to exceed three days; then after breakfast only for not more than four days. DO NOT SWALLOW ANY OF THE SOLUTION. Gentian root—Five cents' worth (not the powdered) a little when ever the desire for smoking appears. Gentian root is slightly tonic and an aid to digestion. It may be used for several weeks without injury. Diet—The diet for the first two weeks consists exclusively of fruits, well baked cereals, foods and milk. Whole wheat or rye bread, etc., may also be used. The moderate use of nuts, well masticated, is of value. At the close of each meal use fresh subacid fruits such as peaches, pears, apples, pineapples. Sweet milk, buttermilk or malted milk may be used in place of coffee, tea or cocoa.

SUNDAY LAWS—Constitution interpreted by Supreme Court. In the history of this country there has been a general Sunday law been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. This was done in 1883 by the California Supreme Court in its case against the State of California. The court held that Sunday laws are a religious discrimination in favor of a religious sect, Justice Field, in the case of the Supreme Court of the United States, wrote a dissenting opinion which he held that such laws were more police regulations necessary to secure rest to employees, who might otherwise be forced to work as days in a week. Three years later, 1886, this court reversed its former decision (see pages Andrews, 115 U. S. 678), and adopted the reasoning of Justice Field. Sunday laws are not of general application, but are a religious discrimination from time to time for various reasons, but these can have been disregarded because they have no bearing on the power state Legislatures to pass general laws requiring the observance of a day in seven as a day of rest. They are interesting chiefly on account of their lack of uniformity. For instance, in Ohio a city ordinance was held to be void in 1886 because it did not provide for certain exceptions from the general statute, among such exceptions being the observance of a day in seven as a day of rest. In Louisiana, on the other hand, a similar ordinance which contained such exception was held unconstitutional in 1894, because it was considered to be a discrimination in favor of the Jewish faith. (City of Shreveport v. Levy, 154 La. 481.)

Some confusion over municipal ordinances, and over laws regulating barbers, there is always a lack of absolute unanimity of opinion among superior courts with the exception of the California case which was so soon overruled, that it is within the power of State Legislatures to prohibit ordinary labor on Sunday, works of necessity and charity excepted.

A novel stand can be made in the following way: Procure an old piece of drain pipe and some broken ornaments, vases, etc., of various colors. Break the broken articles into small pieces. Give the drain pipe a coat of white lead and putty mixed, then stick the pieces of china and glass all over it, arranging them to form an artistic design. When quite dry and hard give it a coat of varnish, which gives a polish and enables it to be easily cleaned.

The Ventriloquist

He was an artist, too; and by the employment of both talents successfully held up and robbed a stage in which he was a passenger.

By Will Lisenbee.

THE gullibility of Ruggles was an open book to all the denizens of Blue Gulch before he had been in the town a week. In the hands of those who habitually quenched their thirst at his expense he became so plastic that he was known as "Beeswax Ruggles," and finally, for brevity, it was cut simply to "Beeswax."

The mission of Beeswax in Blue Gulch was at first veiled in obscurity. Finally it came out that he was an artist. At this discovery a mild spasmodic pervaded the social structure of Blue Gulch, which resolved itself into the interrogation of "Why?"

His reply was both engaging and conciliatory. His mission in Blue Gulch, he explained, was in nowise intended to disturb the natural order of things, but merely that he might study, for a brief season, the rugged outlines of frontier life which appealed so strongly to his love of realism and verisimilitude in art.

These fine words mystified rather than appeased the inquiring mind of Pizen Bill.

"Oh, I don't take no offense at your coming to Blue Gulch none," remarked Pizen Bill, as he drained the glass which Beeswax's hospitality had filled. "fer I reckon the town must grow, an' in growin' it is only a question of time when it must have churches, Sunday schools, waterworks an' artists. An' if Blue Gulch is to have an artist," he went on, slapping Beeswax on the shoulder, "it is proper that she should have one that's a judge of good licker."

In the days that followed Beeswax spent a great deal of his time locked in his studio at the Occidental Hotel. No one was permitted to inspect his work, nor were any visitors allowed to visit his rooms. He was going to give an exhibition of his work, he announced, and he would then invite all lovers of art in Blue Gulch to be present.

"There are no better critics than the people—the common people," Beeswax said to Pizen Bill in confidence.

Beeswax Departs.

A NUMBER of all-day sketching trips were made by the industrious artist, on horseback, accompanied by a pack animal bearing his painting paraphernalia and canvases, and he might have had company on several occasions had he not very decidedly declined such companionship, on the plea that it would destroy his artistic inspiration.

Just as public expectation and interest in the promised art exhibition had reached an acute stage of impatience, the artist announced that only the finishing touches were now lacking, but that their application rendered necessary a trip to the outside world for the purchase of suitable paints.

His departure was accordingly a cordial ovation that gave promise of a veritable triumph on his return. He was followed to the stage and for half a mile from camp by enthusiastic admirers.

The stage had crossed a high ridge and was descending through a narrow defile flanked on either side by rocky walls, when Beeswax, whose head was out of the window viewing the scenery, gave a terrific gasp. Almost instantly there came from the roadside the stern command to halt and throw hands up. It broke with terrifying distinctness on the ears of driver and passengers, and as they turned their eyes to the left, there, half hidden among the rocks and scant vegetation, stood a trio of road agents, their rifles cocked in the stage.

"Tumble out, every one of you, an' fall into line!" came the harsh, imperative command, and the passengers, who knew by experience the folly of procrastination under such circumstances, literally fell over each other in their haste to obey.

As they fell into line one firm voice of the leading bandit again broke the silence.

"You little cuss that called 'Beeswax,' came the voice, 'you that's bin a n' in' around lookin' fer 'loke culler,' I reckon you've got a chanst to see the reel thing. Jist you take holt now an' go through the passengers fer us, an' if you leave a copper on any of their persons we'll feed yer to the coyotes as a solemn warnin' to yer like."

With hands that obviously shook Beeswax proceeded to go through the passengers, and when he had finished had collected half a dozen watches, six pistols and a pile of money that made him catch his breath.

Beeswax Writes Back.

THEN the chief bandit, with still leveled gun, gave the order for the passengers to return to the stage, but Beeswax was told to remain, as they proposed to transact a little business with him, and the last the passengers saw of him he was groveling in the trail, the picture of abject terror.

When, a few hours later, the Sheriff and his posse arrived on the scene, the bandits and Beeswax had disappeared. A month later a letter, bearing an Eastern postmark, arrived at Blue Gulch. It was addressed to the Mayor and the people in general, and was as follows:

Dear Friends:
I regret that I did not find it convenient to give my little art exhibition in just the way you were led to expect. However, my method of exhibiting specimens of my art was, you will doubtless admit, both novel and effective, and I may add, very remunerative as well. The three road agents who so successfully held up the stage at the Pass were carefully painted dummies, artistically prepared to represent the real thing—no perfect, it proved, that they only needed the voice, which I was fortunately able to supply by the introduction of a bit of ventriloquial art. The success of my experiment has been so gratifying that I am moved to reward the appreciation of your people by leaving them as a legacy the three dummies, which may be found hidden in a little cavern north of the Pass. You will agree, I am sure, that in these days a bit of deception is necessary to success in all the walks of life. Believe me, I am most cordially and gratefully yours.

The letter bore no signature, but where it should have been there was a piece of beeswax fastened firmly to the paper.

"Well, I'll be darned!" exclaimed Pizen Bill. "Jist to think that an ornery little cuss like Beeswax could come to Blue Gulch an' take the whole outfit in on a Jim crow game like that! If ever he comes to Gulch ag'in we'll give an exhibition of his remains hangin' to a tree, shot full o' holes, that will be a great deal more relistick than any of his dummies!"

MAYOR KIEL PAROLES FOUR I. W. W. SPEAKERS

James Eads How Gets Three Police Judges to Recommend Release From Workhouse.

Four I. W. W. speakers sent to the workhouse a week ago yesterday when fined $25 each by Police Judge Hogan for alleged peace disturbances at Seventeenth and Market streets, were paroled today by Mayor Kiel. They are John Cohen, John Miller, John Kelly and Joseph Green.

James Eads How, hobo leader, who was arrested last week when he spoke at the same place and later was discharged by Judge Hogan, yesterday asked the Mayor for the paroles. Kiel said he would act only on the recommendation of the three Police Judges, a majority of the Parole Board to a petition for parole.

Police making the arrests contended the four I. W. W. speakers used obscene language.

HAMPERING LAWS CAUSE HIGH PRICES, SAYS NAGEL

Present Cost of Living Due to Conflicting State Statutes, He Tells Convention.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20.—Charles Nagel, of St. Louis, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor, speaking here tonight before the United States Brewers' Association convention said the present high cost of living was due to a large extent to "the multiplicity of conflicting laws with which the country is cursed."

Nagel urged laws for the regulation of business. "Because of conflicting state laws in regard to corporations," he said, "all business is hampered and harassed. A Missouri corporation, under existing state laws, can act with more freedom in conducting business in Great Britain today than it can in the neighboring State of Illinois."

The legal profession, Nagel said, was largely responsible for "the chaos of laws running rampant."

SCHMITZ WILL RUN AGAIN FOR MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO

Former Executive Who Was Accused With Ruef to "Seek Vindication" at Polls.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Former Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, central figure with Abraham Ruef in a series of graft prosecutions, following the earthquake and fire of 1906, is homebound from New York with the definite intention of entering upon an active campaign for election as Mayor next year. This announcement was made today by a brother of Schmitz, who said the former Mayor would "seek vindication" at the polls.

"My brother is an innocent man," said Herbert Schmitz, adding that the former Mayor had been victimized by Ruef, who conducted grafting operations without his knowledge. Twenty-seven indictments found against Schmitz after he was thrown out of office were later dismissed.

MISSING GIRL IS TRACED

Woman Disappeared With Boonville (Ind.) Miss on Monday.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 20.—Anna Elizabeth Scott, 16 years old, of Boonville, Ind., who disappeared last Monday, is being searched for throughout Southern Indiana.

A woman called at the home of the girl and told her father that she had obtained a position for the girl in a hotel at Boonville. The girl was allowed to leave and has not been seen since.

A traveling man reported to the police here today that he felt sure he saw the girl and woman in company with a man, who claimed to be a piano tuner, at Centerville, on Tuesday. He says the man said they were going to Louisville, Ky., to place their girl in a home and that from there they would go to Knoxville, Tenn.

$1200 AS LIVING WAGE

New York City Board Makes Amount Salary Basis.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Bureau of Standards of the Board of Estimate, which fixes all salaries in municipal departments, has decided that $1200 a year is the living wage in New York City, and will take this as a basis.

The bureau, in a report, gives the results of work of nearly a year and officially disapproves of quick action in salary raises. By establishing a system of regular periodic increases based upon length of service and efficiency, it is estimated that a substantial equality in salaries will be brought about in seven or eight years.

Initiative Lost in Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 20.—A proposed constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum in Mississippi was defeated by 882 votes in the election of Nov. 1, according to official returns tabulated today.

LIFE STATION DAMAGED

CHATHAM, Mass., Nov. 20.—The Chatham live saving station, which was seriously threatened by last night's unusually high tide and storm, escaped destruction, although the waves tore off the shingles on one side as high as the windows.

The life savers, who were prepared to abandon the station, managed to maintain their patrols throughout the night with great difficulty. At daylight the rain had ceased and no vessels were in sight off the coast.

MAN LOCKED IN A STEEL VAULT SEVERAL HOURS

He Is Rescued When Janitor
Hears Him Beating on Walls in State Capitol Office.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 20.—William Sauer, a civil engineer from Chicago, was locked in the land record vaults of the State Department last night and spent several hours there before a janitor at work in the Auditor's office heard him beating against the steel walls.

Sauer was looking up land records when closing time came at 5 o'clock. The doors were closed and the clerk went home.

When the janitor heard Sauer beating against the wall of the vault he called L. J. Powers, chief clerk to the Secretary of State, the only man in town who knew the vault's lock combination, and Sauer was released.

DETECTIVE SAYS SPOUSE PLANNED AN ALIBI

Notes From Prisoner to Friends
Intercepted, East Side
Chief Asserts.

Chief of Detectives Grigsby of East St. Louis yesterday told of having intercepted notes written by William Sprouse, held in Clayton on a charge of murdering his wife, in which Sprouse threatened friends to establish an alibi for the night of Oct. 31. That was the night Mrs. Sprouse disappeared. The body of a woman, believed to be that of Mrs. Sprouse, was found last Saturday on former Judge Moses N. Sale's farm near Clayton.

The notes, Grigsby said, were written while Sprouse was in the East St. Louis jail.

Mrs. Nora Sprouse of 708 South Broadway wrote to Sheriff Bode of St. Louis county yesterday saying she believed Sprouse was the man she married about years ago in Mount Vernon, Ill., and suggested the Sheriff ask the prisoner he ever got a divorce. She identified photographs of Sprouse.

Sprouse, when questioned, admitted he married in Mount Vernon, but said he got a divorce in Aurora, Mo. Mrs. Sprouse said she lived with her husband about one year and left him because of his cruel treatment. Some time afterward, she said, he called upon her while she was living with her sister on Pine street and asked her to be a charge of an infant. He told her he had got a divorce and that the child was that of his second wife, who died. Sprouse and Mrs. Blanche Scott, lately charged with him, waived a hearing yesterday and were held without bonds for the grand jury.

IONE AND TELEGRAPH WAR REVENUE TAX RULES

Instructions Issued to Facilitate Collection With the Least Inconvenience.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Instructions issued last night by the Internal Revenue Bureau designed to facilitate collection of the war revenue tax on telephone and telegraph messages with as little inconvenience as possible to the companies.

The companies, the instructions say, shall make one report and one return a whole in the district in which its central office is located. They will be allowed to make their returns for a month and additions may be made or errors in a previous month.

Messages sent by automatic telephone are subject to the tax one cent for each message for which a charge of five cents or more is made—and companies are left to design their methods of collection in such cases.

Telephone messages, where the rate is less than 15 cents, but where an overcharge makes the amount due over 15 cents, are subject to tax.

Messages over a private leased circuit relating exclusively to the business in which it was leased are exempt.

MAN SAYS HE PREFERS PRISON TO HIS WIFE

Son of Philadelphia Manufacturer
Arrested Here on Charge of Abandoning Her.

Hyman Sichel, 26 years old, son of a wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer, arrested here last night on a charge of wife abandonment, says he would rather keep on working in a mattress factory or go to the penitentiary than return to his wife.

Sichel's father is Louis Sichel, president of the Lehigh Star Bedding Manufacturing Co., which operates three factories. The young man was formerly a traveling salesman for the firm.

He says he simply grew tired of his wife and that he never wanted to marry her very badly, explaining that she planned the elopement.

He came to St. Louis and lived at the American Hotel. Nine weeks ago his father cut off his allowance. Sichel got work in a mattress factory at Third and Elm streets. He and three fellow workers roomed at the Lockwood Hotel, 1614 Chestnut street, where he was arrested. A detective is coming from Philadelphia for him. Sichel says his wife was too jealous.

STUDYING HOW TO WIN SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

Government Experts Working on Reports With View to Making Suggestions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Experts of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce are at work on the reports obtained from every South American country, with a view to suggesting to American manufacturers a feasible way of winning the enormous trade with those countries which Germany was forced to abandon at the outbreak of the European war.

Preliminary reports show the situation to be greatly complicated. With the exception of Argentina every country is financially embarrassed to some extent. The European war has had a bad effect. Some countries have on hand huge crops and mineral products which usually have been absorbed by European manufacturers, now out of reach.

There are few factories in South America, and little prospect of those of the United States being able to take up any large portion of the raw materials now filling warehouses in South American cities. Without exception, the American Consuls report that some arrangements must be made to provide financial aid and permit South American producers to realize to some extent on the stored products, as a preliminary to the permanent establishment of the United States in South American trade.

MAN HAS TWO ARRESTED AFTER HE LOSES DIAMOND

Frank J. Blatterman of 46 Lewis place last night caused the arrest of Hazel Butler, 22 years old, of 2008 Olive street, and Francis McMahon, 21 years old, of 3028 Locust street. He said he had been robbed of a diamond stud valued at $80 and $10 in the Olive street house. McMahon and Miss Butler gave the police the name of a man they said had Blatterman's diamond, but declared they knew nothing of the affair.

The Biggest Garment Purchase Ever Made by a single house—The Biggest Sale Ever Attempted by any one house in America. The biggest Coat and Suit values ever placed before the women of St. Louis and environs. A sale so far-reaching, so wide in scope, offering so much style and quality at so small cost that no woman, whether of meager purse or unlimited means, should miss. We doubt if there is one woman in twenty, who reads this ad, with a wardrobe so complete that she should not add to it one or more of these Coats and Suits—and that's what she'll do if she takes a peep at them.

A CAR LOAD—"Think of it"—A Car Load of Coats and Suits. 5000 Coats—3000 Suits, who said "Hard Times?" But we got them at "a price." ## A Few La Vogue Facts Worth Knowing

The La Vogue Co. is the largest manufacturer of high-class Coats and Suits in America. They have six factories. They never make a Coat to retail regularly under $18.00. They never make a Suit to sell under $25.00. La Vogue garments are guaranteed for two seasons' wear, and we stand back of this guarantee. La Vogue is recognized the world over as the "standard of style." When you buy a La Vogue Suit or Coat the question of style, satisfaction and service is answered for the season.

The Story of These "La Vogue" Sales

We are sole St. Louis agents for La Vogue garments, and their largest distributors. Twice a year, April and November, when they are winding up their season's business, they close out all surpluses on hand at a mere fraction of value. We are always given the preference. This season, on account of the backward season and the general depression, their stocks were heavier than ever before. This, of course, made lower prices necessary in order to make a quick close-out of all, and we were the only house with the "nerve" to take over 8000 garments.

BRESNAHAN WILL GET $77,332 FOR FIVE YEARS' WORK

Former Cardinal Commander Now Rated Next to McGraw as Salary-Getter.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Roger Patrick Bresnahan of Toledo today proudly takes his position as second to John McGraw in the rank of "champion salary-getters."

Bresnahan, according to advice emanating from "trustworthy sources" in Chicago, has signed to manage the Cubs for three years at a salary of $18,000 per year. At the expiration of this contract, if, in the meantime, Roger doesn't develop into a "ball in a china shop," he will have received from the Chicago Nationals an aggregate total of $77,332 in salary.

Two years ago, after Bresnahan was given the job at Robison Field, he signed with Murphy for 1909 a season with a cash bonus of $10,000. He received on this salary for two years, totaling in all $23,332. Add to this $54,000 for the next three seasons and you have a fortune of $77,332.

Never a Cheap Skate.

Indeed, Roger never has been a "cheap guy." He served two years with the Cardinals on the basis of $10,000 and 10 per cent of the net profits and prior to that he was suffering along on a beggarly allowance of $800 per annum. Since he won his managerial chevrons six years ago it is believed that he pulled down upwards of $75,000. With all these good reasons to doubt the statement from Chicago that Roger is one of the richest men in baseball. Quite the contrary is true.

While the money came easy in St. Louis, Bresnahan was sort of a "Cool Oil Johnny." He boomed his share of bubble water and he never traveled in anything worse than a drawing room. He drove a car and even went hunting in a six-cylinder car that burned up in a corn field.

But Roger has learned a lesson. He behaved last season and was in better physical shape in 1914 than he was for two years previous. It was under his guidance that the Cubs made their best showing last season and it is understood that there is a clause in his new contract, stipulating that he shall be paid and paid in at least half the game.

May Trade Jimmy Archer.

For that reason the report that Jimmy Archer is eager to get away from Chicago may be true. Archer and Bresnahan are friends, but when two such great artists try to live on the same club there's sure to be jealousy. Bresnahan probably will trade Archer to acquire a few insiders and possibly a few more.

Bresnahan's appointment was no surprise. Roger was offered the berth last July but he declined because he didn't fancy the proposition of succeeding O'Day in midseason. Indeed the job should have been his from the start of the campaign. A year ago O'Day was wished on the part of the Cardinals. But when the Federal storm broke last winter with Murphy in Ireland, some one slipped a cog and O'Day was wished on the part of the Cardinals. But when the Federal storm broke last winter with Murphy in Ireland, some one slipped a cog and O'Day was wished on the part of the Cardinals. ### ILLINOIS IN SHAPE FOR BATTLE WITH BADGERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Members of the University of Illinois football eleven, after spending the night here, left early today for Madison, Wis., to play the University of Wisconsin tomorrow in game in which the men of Illini expect to clinch the "big nine" football championship.

Coach Eupke planned to give his players a light workout on the Wisconsin field this afternoon. Having defeated Minnesota and Chicago, Illinois has only to defeat Wisconsin to complete the season with a clean record of victories. Wisconsin has been beaten by Minnesota and tied by Chicago.

MANUAL ELEVEN BEATS MCKINLEY'S CRIPPLES

The Manual Training School football eleven defeated the McKinley High School eleven, 12 to 4, at Francis Field yesterday afternoon. The high school team went into the game minus a number of regulars who are still banged up as a result of last Saturday's game. Substitutes took their places, weakening the eleven to a great extent. Manual scored both touchdowns in the first quarter, long runs by Goltzman, Hachman and Baum featured the play. However, the McKinley defense strengthened after this period, and Manual was unable to gain consistent yardage. Coach Crosby of McKinley announced that the entire McKinley team would be in shape by Thursday and all would get into the Jordan game.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Old Man Dope Nutty Again.

OLD MAN DOPE took another slant at the football situation for Saturday and announced that his complete recovery from his baseball season injuries might be expected.

Rushing in where a lot of experts feared to follow him, he announced this morning the following prospects for tomorrow:

Harvard to beat Yale; close.
Illinois to beat Wisconsin.
Minnesota to beat Chicago.
Missouri to beat Kansas; close.
Nebraska to beat Iowa; close.
Lehigh to beat Lafayette; very close.
Dartmouth to beat Syracuse; very close.

Old Dope has a hunch, however, that Nebraska, while the "form," will be a bad bet. These Hawkeyes have quite a staunch little Juggernaut themselves.

Promoters Seem Easy.

KENOSHA dispatches state that a boxing promoter there was held up, bound and gagged and $2000 taken from him. Crude work! Boxers take the money from promoters almost every week, without violence.

Willard's Snap in Danger.

If Jess Willard doesn't throw a few safeguards around Jack Johnson, the big smoke may kick the white hope's championship outlook into the discard. Jack, according to reports, is slated to battle Sam McVea in Havana, Cuba, in March. If Willard permits this bout to proceed on his own, he'll probably have a battle with a beaten man, with no title left to transfer, confronting him!

McVea isn't the greatest fighter in the world. But he's a big husky, seven years younger than Johnson, who has at least one verdict over Sam Langford to his credit. His strength should enable him now to outlast Johnson, although the champion has beaten McVea—even knocked him out. But that was 10 years ago. McVea's last battle with Langford was a 2-round draw, last March. His record against Langford includes two draws, one victory, three defeats and one knockout by "Them."

Recruiting Sergeants, Attention.

FOREIGN nations desiring to fit out depleted regiments are respectfully advised of the existence of a large, ready-to-hand army of middleweight title claimants.

Illinois' Real Team.

ILLINOIS University's eleven will be sent against the Wisconsin team, Saturday, in the final game of the season.

JOHNSON TO RISK HIS TITLE TWICE, EARLY IN SPRING

Jess Willard and Sam McVea Will Be Taken On Within a Space of Six Weeks.

Buenos Aires, beautiful capital of the Argentine republic, South America, is the latest country to break into the championship fight promoting game, confirmation of the Post-Dispatch story printed Monday that the world's title fight might be decided there was received from London, yesterday. Dispatches state that the Johnson-Willard bout is being big for Buenos Aires; Sydney, Australia; Juarez, Mexico, and Havana, Cuba, promoters.

Could Hold Harvard.

"To my mind," declared Ward, "Illinois would give any eleven in the country the test of its career, this year. That goes for Harvard. I think Illinois is superior to either Nebraska or Michigan, basing the opinion on descriptions of the work of the eleven named."

"Nebraska's chief reputation is built around its score against the Michigan Aggies, whom the Cornhuskers overwhelmed one week after Michigan had been held by the M. A. C. men to a 3-0 score. The Aggies were badly battered by the heavy Michigan team and could not have played their best game against Nebraska. Otherwise the Nebraska eleven has not encountered the same class as the M. A. C. team. It has some good players. We also had to consider the season, we were well advanced and conditioned. But Illinois played with us Zuppke has a star for every position. They are big, fast men. It is said that Fugate Macomber and one or two others are the stars. But the truth is that every man on the eleven would measure up with the requirements of any variety coach."

"It is too bad that Illini will get no chance at the big Easterners this year. It would take any team's best to give Illinois a real fight."

In the second match of the local Interstate Three-cushion League of the season at the Billie Frank Casino, Charles Ellis of Cleveland tonight. At present Ellis is running things in the championship race, while Jess Lee of Chicago is packing the field. Tonight's match will start at 8:30.

Murphy in the Saddle.

THE dogs of war are loose again. The dove of peace has fluttered. When Sherman made his famous speech, A mighty truth he uttered. G. Herrmann's overtures for peace, C. Weeghman now is scoring; While Chubby Chawles is raising equals. Right out there in the offing, Ban Johnson hastened to New York To talk with Mr. Farrell. The owner of the New York Yanks And also a goodly barrel. The portly Ban evolved a plan Whereby they'd be in clover; But Chubby Chawles As smooth as glass, On Johnson slipped one over.

Webb Murphy called on Mr. Taft. Regarding private matters: Then fired on the flag of truce And tore it into tatters. He told him that to sell the Cubs Would be the sheerest folly; Which seemed to clear The atmosphere And made it nice for Cholly!

The Daily Pill.

The Lord loveth a cheerful giver; but the guy who puts a lead dollar in the plate is only kidding himself.

Roger Bresnahan has signed a three-year contract to manage the Cubs. As to who will manage the Duke we are not in a position to say. But whether it is Mr. Weeghman, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Thomas or Mr. Taft he will have quite some job on his hands, take it from Mrs. Britton.

Just as we were looking forward to a season of reorganized baseball who should come out from behind the woodpile with an ax in his hand but little Charles Webb Murphy, and bingo! away goes peace.

Harvard 10-to-8 Choice to Beat Yale, Tomorrow

Hundreds of Students Motor to New Haven From Cambridge Over Bad Roads.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—Undeterred by prospects of muddy roads and possibly snow in some of the country districts, hundreds of Harvard students and graduates today sent their motor cars splashing over the pavements soaked by last night's downpour on their start for New Haven, where tomorrow they will watch the Harvard-Yale game. Other hundreds prepared to go by special trains this afternoon.

The line men and guards of the football squad took an early train for New London, where they were to join the players, who went ahead yesterday. Harvard men expressed full confidence in the ability of their team to defeat Yale, and the betting odds here were 10 to 8 on Harvard.

Dame Rumer having failed to put Charles Weeghman in possession of the Cubs is now busy working on the job of making Jake Daubert jump to the Feds.

We have it from the weather man that it will be a cold day when Harvard beats Yale.

SWEETHEART.

Why wait? I'll buy the diamond ring at Lofis Bros. & Co., the National Jewellers, 2d floor, 5th & Olive, and we'll get married Thanksgiving day.

C. B. C. Trying to Sign Big Elevens for Next Season

Illinois, Texas, Notre Dame and Southern Champions on List of Dates Sought.

With but one game to be played before the close of the 1914 football season at Christian Brothers' College, athletic authorities at that school are making plans for the next gridiron season.

The plan for the schedule is as follows: One conditioning game with small colleges in this vicinity. Then game with Illinois University. Negotiations are also being made with the Michigan Aggies, Notre Dame, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Texas universities.

When Rolla declined to play the 10 on this Saturday the Miners expressed willingness to schedule a game for season. As it is not probable Washington U. or St. Louis U. will Rolla next year it will be the only opportunity of St. Louisans to see year's State champions.

Another date that is almost assured that with Notre Dame.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. MCCARDELL

Mrs. Jarr Enlarges Her List of Undesired Acquaintances.

"WELL, Dora Bingle, is it you?" cried Mrs. Blodger in pleased surprise.

Mrs. Jarr turned, as did the Cackleberry girls, to see Mrs. Blodger run and hiss a pale, thin woman with blue eyes so light they looked like pallid marbles. The pale woman's hair was drawn so tightly back from her forehead that it had pulled her eyebrows half way up her forehead. It also had the effect of having made her pallid eyes pop out and her nose turn up. This person was accompanied by a very obese little boy of about 3 years of age, whose fat, red legs were so bowed that the child seemed to be sitting on a red brick arch with concrete bases for he had on white shoes. Uncle Jared Smunk, the retired Government printer, who had been standing on his head looking at things for in following his art of compositor, he had become so accustomed to see things upside down he had to stand on his head to look at objects—righted himself and went over to the newcomers.

Mr. Smunk and his sister-in-law (the new widow of the old soldier) also edged in toward Mrs. Blodger's friend and the elliptical child. Mrs. Jarr and the Cackleberry girls stood aloof, however.

"It's that awful Mrs. Bingle!" sniffed Miss Irene Cackleberry. "Why does Mawr always truck up with tacky women?"

"Yes, but Bill Bingle is a snake," said Mr. Blodger. "His hisses and rattles, Bill Bingle does!"

"The Bingles moved from Delaware on account of the Delaware whipping post law for wife beaters, and you know it!" snapped Miss Irene Cackleberry.

"I know it and I glory in it!" replied Mr. Blodger. "She inherited money, yet she refused to give Bill Bingle an allowance!"

By this time the idle crowd that had gathered around to watch Uncle Jared Smunk standing on his head, while they threw pennies in his hat under the impression it was some faker doing an entertainment, had drifted away. And Uncle Jared had greatly surprised Mrs. Bingle by remarking:

"I bet you weigh just 115 pounds! I'll bet you!"

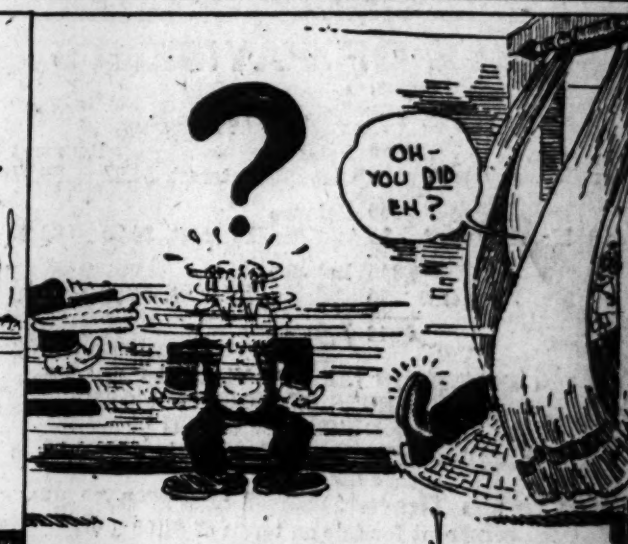

"And little Halloway with you, too!" gurgled Mrs. Blodger. "How that child do grow!"

Mrs. Jarr now noticed that Mrs. Bingle had the dreadful red little boy—he looked exactly as though he had been bolted—partially suspended by toy harness with bells across the breast-strap. "It takes the strain off his precious little legs," Mrs. Bingle explained in response to Mrs. Blodger's inquiring gaze.

"That dreadful child is so bow-legged he sleeps in a tub!" said Gladys Cackleberry, aside. "She has the tub on casters and pushes it under her bed at night. She got the $2 prize from the Home Hints Department of the Perfect Lady's Magazine for writing about it—'How to Make a Trundle Bed Crib for a Bow-Legged Child Out of an Ordinary Wash-tub.'"

"Hasn't little Halloway got beautiful red cheeks, Uncle Jared?" asked Mrs. Blodger, in the other group. "Let me see," replied the retired printer, and he picked up the fat little boy and turned him upside down and looked at his face.

The child's legs looked so much like a red hoop that some trained dogs going by all leaped through them without command. "A great act! A knock-out!" cried a mellow voice. "I could get it booked for forty weeks in the Big Time!" And Mrs. Jarr turned to behold Mr. Jarr's erstwhile theatrical friend, Harold Dogstony, Prince of Press Agents!

"Why, Mrs. Jarr, are you trouping?" he asked, now observing that lady for the first time. "And the Misses Cackleberry? Have you two also joined out with a show? You've got a great bally-hoo in that old Amos with the hay on his chin! I never seen a more natural headpin act than he put over! Don't tell me it's Small Time stuff!"

Mrs. Jarr, covered with confusion, hastened to assure Mr. Dogstony that she still was in private life, and that Mr. Jared Smunk and little Halloway Bingle, so far as she knew, were not professionals. "Well, they should be!" said Mr. Dogstony. "The child with the elliptical legs would save a bum bill, and as for old Amos—he's a natural born kinker! Put him in a vaudeville house and the character man would seem to be playing straight!"

Locating Mr. Johnson.

TWO commercial travelers who met in the hall of one of the upper floors of a hotel stopped a moment to chat.

"I wonder if Johnson is staying here," said one.
"I don't know," the other answered, "but I can tell you if he is on this floor."
"How?"

"Just take a broom and make a noise like someone sweeping, and if Johnson is within hearing he'll stick his head out of the door to flirt with the chamber-maid."

A Plea of Pardon.

SENATOR "BOB" TAYLOR of Tennessee used to tell a story of how, when he was "Fiddling Bob," Governor of that State, an old negro came to him and said:
"Massa Gov'n, we's mighty po' this winter, and Ah wish you would pardon mah old man. He is a fiddler same as you is, and he's in the penitentiary."
"What was he put in for?" asked the Governor.

"Stead of workin' fo' it that good-fornothin' nigger done stole some bacon."
"If he is good for nothing what do you want him back for?"

"Well, yo'ees, we's all out of bacon ar'n," said the old negro innocently.
